BOOK FIRST

OF GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF ADMINISTRATIVE JUSTICE

PART I

OF THE JURIDICAL NATURE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW

Title I

OF THE CLASSIFICATION OF LAWS

Sub-Title I

Of Classification of Law by Extent

Classification of laws by extent.

4. (1) A law is classified into a general law and a special law.

(2) A law is also classified into a local law and a personal law.

Lex generalis.

5. The general law is that which applies to the whole community, unlimited both in its area and as regards the person in its effects.

Lex specialis.

6. (1) A special law is directed to a special subject or a special class of objects and lays down provisions for the guidance of persons concerned with that subject-matter or to a particular class of persons who are to be either protected or affected adversely by the law.

(2) A special law creates special rights or special duties in relation to the special case dealt with it, apart from the general law of the land.

Classification of codes as general law.

7. By its very own nature, a code is a general law.

8. (1) If a law is limited in its operation in respect of an area which is lesser than the entire area over which the body entrusted with law making powers concerned has jurisdiction, it is local.

(2) Bye-laws made under the Local Councils Act are an example of local laws.

Personal law.

9. Where a law is limited in respect of a person, it is personal law.

———

Sub-Title II

Of Classification of Law by Object

Classification of laws into primary and subsidiary legislation.

10. (1) A primary law shall be made by Parliament.

(2) Examples of primary law include codes, acts and ordinances.

(3) Unless delegated, laws shall be made by Parliament.

(4) Subsidiary legislation, also known as secondary legislation or delegated legislation, may be made by such person or body to whom Parliament delegates its law making function.

(5) Delegated legislation may only be made by a person or body specifically authorised to do so by law.

Classification of laws by object.

11. A law is classified by object when it is declaratory, enacting, codifying, consolidating, remedial, enabling, penal and fiscal.

Declaratory laws.

12. (1) A law is said to be declaratory when it is intended to remove a doubt as to the interpretation of any law or to set aside what the law making person or body deems to have been a judicial error.

(2) The intention of a declaratory act is usually retrospective. It is couched in such words as ‘shall be deemed to have always meant’ et similia (and the like).

(3) A law may be declaratory in effect though not in form.
Enacting laws.
13. An enacting law creates or regulates rights and obligations.

Codifying laws.
14. (1) A codifying law embodies in the form of a code the whole of the existing law contained in laws, case law and doctrine (the works of jurists).

(2) The object of a code is systematisation of the law.

Consolidating laws.
15. A consolidating law aims to bring together in one law the provisions contained in a number of laws with corrections and minor improvements as may be necessary to remove ambiguities and anomalies.

Distinction between codification and consolidation.
16. (1) The distinction between a codifying and a consolidating law is that in construing a consolidating statute, there is a rebuttable presumption, a juris tantum presumption, that there was no intention to alter the law but there is no such presumption in the case of codifying laws.

(2) Cases decided before a code are usually no authority for its interpretation, though they may be referred to for the purpose of ascertaining the previous state of the law.

(3) In interpreting the provisions of a consolidated law, the previous decisions are prima facie relied upon, but the presumption is rebuttable, and it may be shown that while consolidating the law, the law making body or person introduced material changes, and that the framework of the new law was different.

Remedial law. Ubi jus ibi rimedium.
17. (1) Where there is law, there is a remedy.

(2) The object of a remedial law is to rectify some grievance or to supply some defect in the existing law, either by providing a new remedy or by improving an existing remedy.

Penal laws.
18. (1) The object of a penal law is to penalise a person for transgressing its provisions.

(2) Penal law first creates a prohibition and then imposes a punishment for doing the prohibited act or omission.

Enabling laws.
19. An enabling law is one which makes it lawful to do something which would not otherwise be lawful.
Fiscal laws.

20. (1) A fiscal law is a law that imposes a financial burden upon a person.

(2) Such burden can be in the form of a direct tax or an indirect tax.

(3) Contributions, fees, levies and taxes are all forms of fiscal measures.

Sub-Title III

Of Classification of Laws by Nature of Sanction

Classification of laws by nature of sanction.

21. Law is classified by nature of sanction into: permissive, obligatory, absolute, mandatory, directory and imperative.

Permissive law.

22. A permissive law is one which allows something to be done without commanding that it be performed.

Obligatory law.

23. When a person empowered by an enabling law has no option but to exercise the power to do the thing which the law legalises, it is called obligatory.

Absolute or mandatory law.

24. An absolute or mandatory law is one whose provision or requirement must be strictly complied with and, in the absence of such non-compliance, the act done shall be null and void.

Directory law.

25. A directory law provides for the doing of certain things, or that certain things must be done in a particular manner, but provides for no sanction either in the non-performance of the act or non-observance of the formalities prescribed.

Distinction between a mandatory and a directory law.

26. (1) Both a mandatory law and a directory law enjoin the doing of certain things, or prescribe the formality for the doing of certain things.

(2) Non-compliance with the provisions of a mandatory law nullifies the act done.

(3) Non-compliance with the provisions of a directory law does not nullify the act done though it may entail other consequences.
Imperative laws.

27. When a law prescribes some formalities or conditions for the exercise of some powers or the performance of some duty, those formalities or conditions which are essential to the validity of the thing done are called imperative.

Sub-Title IV

Of Delegated Legislation

Delegatus not potest delegare.

28. (1) Unless otherwise provided by law, a person or body who has been authorised to make a subsidiary law may not delegate in turn his law making power bestowed upon him by Parliament to another person or body.

(2) The said person or body delegated by Parliament to make laws may make laws only within the authority granted to such person or body.

(3) Where a person or body makes a law which such person or body is not authorised to make or exceeds the powers such person or body has been authorised to exercise, that law shall be null and void to the extent that it is not so authorised to be made.

Henry VIII Clauses.

29. (1) Parliament shall apply Henry VIII clauses only by way of exception.

(2) A Henry VIII clause may be applied only in those cases where Parliament enacts a law and authorises a person or body to amend primary law to bring primary law in conformity with a new law.

(3) Parliament may impose restrictions upon the making of a Henry VIII clause. Such restrictions may include the following:

(a) that vested rights are not adversely effected;

(b) that the act of delegation does not authorise a person or body to make retroactive legislation;

(c) that the act of delegation does not authorise a person or body to exercise that law making function after a certain date to be specified in the Henry VIII clause elapses;

(d) that Parliament reserves the right to annul or amend any subsidiary law when made and during such time as Parliament may determine;
(e) that Parliament may at any time in its discretion revoke the act of delegation of power or assign such delegation to another person or body or exercise such law making function itself or may revoke such delegation and confer such power upon itself or any Committee or officer of the House;

(f) that Parliament may impose other conditions in the provision delegating law making functions to a person to body to comply with any of the following procedures:

   (i) to prepare a draft subsidiary law and submit that draft subsidiary law for public consultation before the final text of that subsidiary law is approved by that person or body;

   (ii) to require that person or body to consult with the public administration, civil society and such other organised interests or persons as Parliament may in the empowering provision determine;

   (iii) such other requirements as Parliament may from time to time determine;

(g) that the act of delegation does not authorise the delegated body or person to impose administrative sanctions retroactively or to create criminal offences with retroactive effect.

Delegated legislation not to constitute an administrative act.

30. (1) It is hereby declared that delegated legislation does not constitute an administrative act for the purposes of judicial review of administrative action.

(2) This implies that delegated legislation may not be challenged under the provisions of judicial review of administrative action contained in Part II of Book Third of this Code.

(3) The Administrative Civil Court and, on appeal, the Constitutional Court, shall have jurisdiction to determine whether delegated legislation:

   (a) runs counter to the parent law;

   (b) is ultra vires;

   (c) has not been authorised by the parent law;

   (d) is in conflict with the Constitution of Malta, the European Convention Act, the European Union Act or the Diplomatic Privileges and Immunities Act;

   (e) is otherwise unlawful.
Parliamentary scrutiny of delegated legislation.

31. (1) It shall be the duty of the Law Commissioner to scrutinise delegated legislation and to report to the Standing Committee on Recodification and Consolidation of Laws the following cases:

(a) where a subsidiary law imposes a charge on public revenues or contains provisions requiring payments to be made to any public authority in consideration of any licence, or any consent, or of any services rendered;

(b) where a subsidiary law purports to exclude the jurisdiction of the courts or tribunals or to do away with any remedy granted hitherto to any person;

(c) where a subsidiary law purports to have retrospective effect;

(d) where there appears to have been an unjustifiable delay in laying or publicising the subsidiary law;

(e) where there is doubt as to whether the subsidiary law is intra vires its enabling Act or where the subsidiary law is not made under the provision authorising the making of such subsidiary law;

(f) where the terms of the subsidiary law require elucidation;

(g) where the subsidiary law appears to run counter to or makes conflicting provisions with another law;

(h) where for any reason whatsoever the drafting of the subsidiary law appears to be defective;

(i) where a subsidiary law prejudices vested rights;

(j) where a subsidiary law runs counter to this Code, the Constitution of Malta, the European Convention Act, the European Union Act and the Diplomatic Privileges and Immunities Act; [Cap. 319; Cap. 460; Cap. 191]

(k) on such other cases as the Standing Committee on the Recodification and Consolidation of Laws may request the Law Commissioner to report thereupon.

(2) The Standing Committee on the Recodification and Consolidation of Laws shall draw up a report on the said subsidiary law and refer it to the House of Representatives for its consideration. Where the said Standing Committee endorses the report of the Law Commissioner, with or without amendments, it shall refer the Law Commissioner’s report and its views thereupon to the Speaker.
(3) The Speaker shall lay the said report and views on the table of the House for discussion by the House on the first occasion following receipt of the said report and views as the House Business Committee may direct.

(4) The House of Representatives shall discuss such report and views.

(5) After doing so, the House may either amend, substitute or repeal the said subsidiary law or a provision therein or take such other action as it deems relevant in the circumstances including requesting the body or person who made that subsidiary law to amend, substitute or repeal it and report back to the House on any such action taken.

Subsidiary legislation to be laid on Table of House.

35. Title II

OF MINISTERIAL RESPONSIBILITY TO PARLIAMENT

Key elements of ministerial responsibility to Parliament.

164. (1) Under the Maltese system of representative government, ministers are answerable to Parliament for the discharge of their responsibilities.

(2) Ministerial responsibility entails four key elements:

(a) responsibility for the overall administration of their portfolios, both in terms of policy and management;

(b) administration of legislation assigned to them;

(c) the carriage in Parliament of their accountability obligations to that institution;

(d) collectively, for the policies and exercise of responsibility by fellow ministers.

Individual ministerial responsibility to Parliament.

165. (1) Ministerial responsibility requires ministers to be answerable to Parliament for every action of public administration employees, including personal staff and other personnel acting under the minister’s legislative, administrative or contractual authority.

(2) In all cases, whether an action occurred with or without the minister’s authorisation or knowledge, the minister remains liable to answer for that action and any corrective action.
(3) Ignorance of a matter does not excuse the minister, and ministers shall have in place systems to ensure they are kept informed.

Ministers and Ministers’ secretariats. Cap. 249.

166. (1) Where a Minister is assigned responsibility for any department of Government in terms of article 82 of the Constitution, that Minister shall, in line with article 92 of the Constitution, and without prejudice to article 325, have the general direction and control of all government departments and government agencies of the public administration that may be placed under his responsibility and may give directions directly to the departments and agencies falling within his responsibilities, on any matter, except matters where the department and agency is required by any law to act -

Auditor General and such other person it deems necessary in the circumstances.

Collective ministerial responsibility to Parliament.

167. (1) Ministers share collective responsibility for the actions of all other ministers, whether or not those actions have been the subject of Cabinet or other collective deliberation.

(2) The principle of collective responsibility for the decisions which are taken in Cabinet is fundamental to effective Cabinet government. From this principle flows the constitutional practice that what is discussed in Cabinet and, in particular, the views of individual ministers on issues before the Cabinet, are to remain entirely within the confidence of the members of Cabinet.

(3) Similarly, the papers considered by Cabinet and the minutes recording the outcome of the Cabinet’s deliberations are regarded as confidential to the government of the day.

Discharge of ministerial accountability.

168. (1) Ministers may discharge their responsibility to be accountable at one or more of six levels.

(2) The appropriate level of accountability may vary according to circumstances and judgments related to the detail of each case.

The six levels of ministerial accountability.

169. (1) The six levels of ministerial accountability are the following:

(a) redirecting the question to the relevant minister;

(b) providing all relevant information;

(c) providing full explanations;

(d) taking any remedial action;

(e) accepting personal culpability; or

(f) resignation.

(2) The six levels of accountability involve the following:

(a) redirecting the question applies where the matter falls outside the minister’s responsibility and is redirected to a ministerial colleague, other government or non-governmental entity with responsibility;
(b) providing all relevant information is appropriate when the only requirement is for the minister to provide some factual information concerning a matter within an area for which he has responsibility;

(c) providing a full explanation is where, in order to discharge responsibility, a minister provides an explanation of the events or actions taken but where no corrective or remedial action is required;

(d) taking any necessary remedial action concerns instances where some action was or is required in response to events which have occurred, or decisions have been taken by the minister or any subordinate, which require some corrective or remedial action;

(e) ministers are expected to accept personal culpability for their own acts and omissions and for those of their heads of department and their personal staff and other instances in which they have participated or of which they were aware or should have been aware. In determining whether a minister is personally culpable, ignorance of a matter does not excuse the acts or omissions of the minister where the minister should have known or should have ensured the matter was drawn to the minister’s personal attention. Without limiting the circumstances in which ministers should have known of any matter, they are deemed to have the knowledge of their heads of department and others who report directly to them and all members of their personal staff;

(f) resignation is appropriate where a minister has lost the confidence of the House of Representatives or the Prime Minister in the minister's capacity to satisfactorily discharge the responsibilities of the office. If a vote of no confidence is passed by the House of Representatives in a Minister is expected to resign after the vote is taken. Should he fail to do so, the Prime Minister shall carry out a Cabinet reshuffle within three days from the taking of the vote of no confidence and shall advice the President of Malta in terms of article 82 of the Constitution of Malta to remove the Minister who has been found not to enjoy the confidence of the House of Representatives.

Scope and definitions.

215. Without prejudice to the provisions of article 191(1)(d) of this Code, the following principles apply to the protection of the rights, liberties and interests of persons with regard to administrative acts taken in the exercise of discretionary powers.

Definitions.

216. Unless the context otherwise requires, the following definitions shall apply to this Title:

(a) the term "administrative act" shall have the same meaning as is assigned to it in article 961 (2) of this Code;

(b) the term "discretionary power" means a power which leaves the public administration some degree of latitude as regards the decision to be taken, enabling it to choose from among several legally admissible decisions the one which it finds to be the most appropriate.

What has to be observed in the implementation of these Principles.

217. (1) In the implementation of these principles, the requirements of good and efficient administration and the interests of third parties and major public interests shall be duly taken into account by the public administration.

(2) Where these requirements or interests make it necessary to modify or exclude one or more of these principles, either in particular cases or in specific areas of public administration, every endeavour shall be made to observe the spirit of this Title.

Basic principles regulating the exercise of a discretionary power.

218. The public administration, when exercising a discretionary power:

(a) shall not pursue a purpose other than that for which the power has been conferred;

(b) shall observe objectivity and impartiality, taking into account only the factors relevant to the particular case;

(c) shall observe the principle of equality before the law by avoiding unfair discrimination;
(d) shall maintain a proper balance between any adverse effects which its decision may have on the rights, liberties or interests of persons and the purpose which it pursues;

(e) shall take its decision within a time which is reasonable having regard to the matter at stake;

(f) shall apply any general administrative guidelines in a consistent manner while at the same time taking account of the particular circumstances of each case.

(3) Where the public administration, in exercising a discretionary power, departs from a general administrative guideline in such a manner as to affect adversely the rights, liberties or interests of a person concerned, such person shall be informed of the reasons for this decision.

(4) Such information shall be provided by stating the reasons in the act. Where the public administration has failed to do so, at the request of any person, shall communicate in writing to the person concerned such information within twenty days from the date of receipt of the said request.

Control.

220. (1) An act taken in the exercise of a discretionary power shall be subject to control of legality by a court or other independent body.

(2) This control does not exclude the possibility of a preliminary control by an administrative authority empowered to decide both on legality and on the merits.

(3) As stated in article 205(4) and in article 961(2) of this Code, where no time-limit for the taking of a decision in the exercise of a discretionary power has been set by law and the public administration does not take its decision within two months following a person’s written demand served upon it by means of a judicial act, its failure to do so may be submitted to control by an authority competent for the purpose.
(4) A court or other independent body which controls the exercise of a discretionary power shall have such powers of obtaining information as are necessary for the exercise of its function.

Principles affecting the protection of persons from the exercise of administrative discretion.

221. (1) The following principles shall apply to the protection of persons in administrative procedures with regard to any individual measures or decisions which are taken in the exercise of public authority by the public administration and which are of such nature as directly to affect their rights, liberties or interests.

Title II

OF STATUTORY CONSTRUCTION IN GENERAL
Construction of statute law.

341. (1) In constructing a provision of this Code or of any other law, the duty of a court shall be that of ascertaining and give effect to the will of Parliament as expressed in this Code and of any other law.

(2) A mere conjecture that Parliament entertained a purpose which, however natural, has not been embodied in the words it has used, if they be literally interpreted, is no sufficient reason for departing from the literal construction.

(3) What the Legislature intended to be done or not to be done can only be legitimately ascertained from what it has chosen to enact either in express words or by reasonable and necessary implication.

(4) The fairest and most rational method to interpret the will of the legislator is by exploring his intentions at the time when the law was made, by signs the most natural and probable. Such signs are either the words, the context, the subject matter, the effects and consequence, or the spirit and reason of the law.

The literal meaning.

342. (1) Where the words of this Code or of any other law are in themselves precise and unambiguous, a court shall resort to the literal meaning of such a provision.

(2) Where the language of this Code or of any other law is plain, admitting of only one meaning, the Legislature shall be taken to have meant and intended what it has plainly expressed, and whatever it has in clear terms enacted shall be enforced unless it leads to absurd or mischievous results, in which case a departure from the literal meaning of the law shall be allowed.

Departure from the literal meaning.

343. (1) A court may however depart from the literal meaning and prefer therefor an interpretation based on the plain intention of the House of Representatives once this can be gathered from this Code or from any other law as a whole when such a literal meaning leads to some absurdity, or some repugnance or inconsistency with the rest of the provisions of this Code or of any other law, in which case the grammatical and ordinary sense of the words may be modified, so as to avoid that absurdity or inconsistency, but no farther. The cases where the literal meaning may be done away with are where:

(a) the provision is ambiguous or obscure; or

(b) a literal interpretation of a provision in this Code or in any other law would be absurd or would fail to reflect the plain intention of the House of Representatives; or

(c) the ordinary meaning conveyed by the text of the provision taking into account its context in this Code or in any other law and the purpose or object underlying this
Code or any other law leads to a result that is absurd or would fail to reflect the plain intention of the House of Representatives.

Effect of ambiguous law.

344. An ambiguous law shall not be construed to derogate from the rights of any person.

Statute to be read as a whole.

345. (1) This Code or any other law shall be read as a whole and construction made to give effect to all the provisions in this code or in any other law together.

(2) Every provision of this Code or of any other law shall be construed with reference to the context and other provisions of this Code of or any other law so as, as far as possible, to make a consistent interpretation of the whole Code or of any other law or part thereof.

(3) When reading this Code or any other law as a whole in order to determine the meaning of a provision:

(a) all the provisions of this Code or of any other law shall be taken into account, including –

(i) their sequence, segmentation and punctuation; and

(ii) the general organization and structure of this Code or of any other law;

(b) any provisions of this Code or of any other law that have been repealed may be taken into account;

(c) any amended provisions of this Code or of any other law as they read before their amendment may be taken into account;

(d) any intrinsic information may be taken into account but only as an opinion on the information it conveys.

Law to be interpreted in the light of changing circumstances.

346. (1) This Code or any other law shall be interpreted –

(a) as applying to circumstances as they arise; and

(b) in accordance with the contemporary meaning of its language.

(2) Any interpretation of this Code or any other law in terms of subarticle (1) shall be consistent with the purpose and scope of the law in question.
Inconsistencies between provisions in this Code or any other law.

347. In the event of any inconsistency between a long title, enacting statement, preamble, table of contents, segment heading, schedule or annexure in any law and any other provision of that law, that other provision prevails.

Interpretation of subsidiary legislation.

348. (1) A provision in any subsidiary law shall be interpreted in the context of its enabling legislation.

(2) Unless the subsidiary law prescribes otherwise, definition of words in the parent law shall also apply to the definition of the same words in the subsidiary law made under the parent law.

Sub-Title I

OF CANONS OF STATUTORY CONSTRUCTION

Construction to be in accordance with policy and object of the law.

349. The construction adopted of this Code or of any other law shall be in accordance with the policy and object of the law in question.

Words to be construed in popular sense.

350. (1) This Code or any other law shall be prima facie presumed to use words in their popular sense.

(2) If words are used in connection with some particular business, trade or transaction, such words shall be presumed to be used in a sense appropriate to such business, trade or transaction.

Words in a law are presumed to be used precisely and exactly.

351. (1) Words in this Code or in any other law are presumed to be used precisely and exactly.

(2) The burden of establishing that this is not the case lies on the person alleging that something in the context of this Code or of any other law shows that the loose and inexact meaning must be preferred.

Same words bear the same meaning.

352. (1) The same words are used in the same meaning in this Code or in any other law.
(2) Consequently a change of language is some indication of a change of intention on the part of the Legislature.

(3) Words occurring in different parts of this Code or of any other law shall be given the same meaning unless this Code or such other law expressly provides otherwise.

(4) Where the Legislature has used the same words in a similar connection in two laws it may be presumed in the absence of any context indicating a contrary intention that the same meaning attaches to the words in the latter as in the former law.

Where the law is clear it shall be enforced. Dura lex sed lex.

353. If the language of this Code or of any other law is clear, it shall be enforced though the result may seem harsh or unfair and inconvenient.

Construction to avoid absurdity.

354. (1) This Code or any other law shall be construed as far as possible to avoid absurdity.

(2) This Code or any other law shall be construed in a manner to give it validity rather than invalidity.

Guidance for judicial interpretation.

355. (1) A judge, magistrate or other adjudicating body shall give effect to the grammatical and ordinary or, where appropriate, the technical meaning of words in the general context of the this Code or of any other law.

(2) He shall also determine the extent of general words with reference to that context.

(3) If a judge, magistrate or other adjudicating body considers that the application of the words in their grammatical and ordinary sense would produce a result which is contrary to the purpose of this code or of any other law, he may apply them in any secondary meaning which they are capable of bearing.

(4) A judge, magistrate or other adjudicating body may read in words which are already in this code or in any other law and he has a limited power to add to, alter or ignore statutory words in order to prevent a provision from being unintelligible, absurd or totally unreasonable, unworkable, or totally irreconcilable with the rest of this Code or of any other law.

Sub-Title II

OF PRESUMPTIONS IN THE INTERPRETATION OF STATUTORY LAWS
Presumption of constitutionality.

356. This Code and any other law shall be presumed to be in conformity with the Constitution of Malta.

Presumption of compatibility with European Union law.

359. No words in this Code or any other law are enacted without a meaning.

Presumption that an updated construction should be applied.

360. (1) This Code or any other law shall be read in the light of conditions prevailing today and that social and technological developments shall be taken into account.

(2) In construing a provision of this Code or any other law, a court may also make allowances for any changes, in law, the meaning of words used in this Code or in any other law and other relevant matters, which have occurred since the date of the passing of this Code or of any other law, so far as its text, purpose and context permit.

Presumption that penal provisions be construed strictly.

361. Penal liability shall not be implied in this Code or in any other law in the absence of clear and unambiguous words.

Presumption against implicit changes in the law.

362. A provision which is ambiguous as to whether or not it effects a change in this Code or in any other law shall be regarded as not effecting any such change.

Presumptions against retrospective effect.

363. When a law changes the substantive, as distinct from the procedural, law then, regardless of whether the law is otherwise prospective or retrospective in its operation, it shall not be deemed to affect proceedings brought under the law which existed prior to the amending law and was pending at the date of the coming into operation of the amending law, when such amending law expressly or by necessary intendment provides to the contrary.

Presumption against extra-territorial effects.

364. Law shall be presumed to have effect only within the territory of the Republic of Malta.
Presumption as to giving the same meaning to a word or expression judicially construed in a subsequent law using the said word or expression.

365. When a word or expression in this Code or in any other law has received a clear judicial interpretation, there is a presumption that any subsequent law that incorporates the same word or expression in a similar context shall be construed so that the word or expression is interpreted according to the meaning that has previously been ascribed to it.

Derogation from these presumptions.

366. (1) Parliament may derogate from the application of any of these presumptions in any law.

(2) Such derogation shall be made by an explicit provision of the law.

(4) A proviso shall be construed with reference to the preceding parts of the clause to which it is appended and as subordinate to the main clauses of the law.

(5) Though framed as a proviso, such a clause may exceptionally have the effect of a substantive enactment, though, the natural presumption is that, but for the proviso, the enacting part of the provision would have included the subject-matter of the proviso.

(3) In such cases, the court shall ascertain the intention of the legislature in typical textual fashion from the wording of the legislation.

Treaties and associated documents.

377. (1) Where a law implements, either expressly or impliedly, a treaty, both the terms of the treaty and its travaux préparatoires may be considered in interpreting an ambiguous provision of the law incorporating that treaty into Maltese Law.

Documents emanating from the European Union.

378. (a) be delivered in writing, including by post or electronically, subject to paragraph (e), to an office of the public authority; and

(b) provide such information concerning the document as is reasonably necessary to enable a responsible officer of the public authority to identify it; and

(c) include a copy of the applicant’s identity card or residence permit, or make reference to the identity card or residence permit in such a way as may be specified by regulations issued under article 550(a);

(d) specify a postal address at which notices under this Title may, if necessary, be sent to the applicant; and

(e) be accompanied by any fee payable in accordance with article 517(3).

(2) No applicant shall be required to justify or give any reasons for a request under this Title, and any beliefs of public authorities as to what are the applicant’s reasons for seeking access shall not affect that request.

Public authority’s duty to assist applicants.

515. Where an eligible person -

(a) wishes to make a request to a public authority; or

(b) has made to a public authority a request that does not comply with article 514 of this Code, it is the duty of the public authority to take reasonable steps to assist the person to make the request in a manner that complies with article 514 of this Code, and it shall do so at no charge.

Transfer of requests.

516. Where a request in accordance with article 514 of this Code is made to a public authority, and the document to which the request relates is not held by the authority but is believed by the person dealing with the request to be held by another public authority, the public authority to which the request is made shall promptly, and in any case not later than ten working days after the day on which the request is received, transfer the request to the other public authority and inform the applicant accordingly.
Fees.

517. (1) Subject to subarticle (2) and to any regulations issued under this Title, a public authority may charge a fee to an applicant for access to a document in accordance with this Title.

(2) Any fee set by a public authority shall not exceed the cost of making a document available to the applicant, whereas if regulations issued as aforesaid prescribe a range of standard fees, such fees shall not exceed the average cost of making documents available to applicants.

(3) Regulations issued as aforesaid may provide for the payment of a fee specifically for the processing of a request for access to documents, and for the payment of such a fee on presentation of the request.

(4) Where a public authority decides to charge an applicant a fee, it shall advise him accordingly and inform him that he has the right to complain to the Commissioner under article 531 of this Code if he feels that the fee is excessive.

(5) If the fee is a standard fee established by regulations under this Title, the Commissioner may in response to such a complaint inquire only into whether the regulations have been correctly applied.

(6) A public authority may waive any fees payable in respect of a particular application if, in the opinion of the authority -

(a) the fee payable is so small as to be not worth collecting; or

(b) payment of the fee would cause financial hardship to the applicant, bearing in mind the applicant’s means and circumstances; or

(c) disclosure of the information requested is in the public interest.

(7) Where a public authority fails to meet the time limit set by article 518 or, if applicable, article 519 of this Code, it shall not charge any fee for access to a document.

Decisions on and replies to requests.

518. Subject to this Title, the public authority to which a request is made in accordance with article 514 or is transferred in accordance with article 516 of this Code shall, as soon as reasonably practicable, and in any case not later than twenty days after the day on which the request is received by the authority -

(a) decide whether the request is to be granted and, if it is to be granted, in what manner and for what charge (if any); and

(b) inform the applicant accordingly in writing.
Extension of time limits.

519. (1) Where a request in accordance with article 514 is made or transferred to a public authority, the authority may extend the time limit set out in article 518 by up to forty working days in respect of the request if -

(a) the request is for a large number of documents or necessitates a search through a large number of documents, and meeting the original time limit would unreasonably interfere with the operations of the public authority; or

(b) consultations necessary to make a decision on the request are such that a proper response to the request cannot reasonably be made within the original time limit.

(2) Any extension under subarticle (1) shall be for a reasonable period of time having regard to the circumstances.

(3) The extension shall be effected by giving notice to the person who made the request within twenty days after the day on which the request is received, and the notice shall -

(a) specify the period of the extension;

(b) give the reasons for the extension;

(c) state that the applicant has the right under article 531 to make a complaint to the Commissioner about the extension; and

(d) contain such other information as is necessary.

Manner in which access may be granted.

520. (1) A public authority may grant an applicant access to a document in one or more of the following ways:

(a) by giving the applicant a reasonable opportunity to inspect the document; or

(d) in the case of a document by which words are recorded in a manner in which they are capable of being reproduced in the form of sound or in which words are contained in the form of shorthand writing or in codified form, by providing the applicant with a written transcript of the words recorded or contained in the document; or

(e) by giving an excerpt or summary of the contents.

(2) Subject to article 521 of this Code, the public authority shall make the document available to the applicant in the way preferred by the applicant unless to do so would -

(a) impair efficient administration; or

(b) be contrary to any legal duty of the public authority in respect of the document; or

(c) prejudice the interests protected by Sub-Titles V and VI of this Title and (in the case of the interests protected by Title VI) those interests are not outweighed by a contrary public interest.

(3) Where access is not granted in the way preferred by the applicant, the public authority shall give to the applicant the reason for not providing the information in that way and state that the applicant has the right under article 531 to make a complaint thereon to the Commissioner.

Deletion of exempt matter or irrelevant material.

521. (1) Where a request is made to a public authority for a document which is an exempt document, but -

(a) it is possible for the public authority to make a copy of the document with the deletion of the exempt matter; and

(b) it is reasonably practical for the public authority, having regard to the nature and extent of the work involved in deciding on and making those deletions and the resources available for that work, to make such a copy, the public authority shall make such a copy available to the applicant.

(2) Where access is granted to a copy of a document in accordance with subarticle (1), the applicant shall be informed -

(a) that it is a copy;

(b) of the grounds for the deletions; and

(c) that the applicant has the right under article 531 to make a complaint to the Commissioner about the deletions.
(3) Where a document (not being an exempt document) contains material that is irrelevant to the applicant’s request, the public authority may, if possible and reasonably practical and if the applicant agrees, make available to the applicant a copy of the document with the irrelevant material deleted; but a document may not be withheld on the grounds that it contains irrelevant material which cannot be deleted.

Reasons for refusal of requests.

522. A request made in accordance with article 514 of this Code may be refused only for one or more of the following reasons:

(a) that the document requested is excluded from the scope of this Title by virtue of article 513 of this Code;

(b) that, by virtue of Sub-Titles V or VI, there is good reason for withholding the document requested;

(c) that, by virtue of article 542 of this Code, the public authority does not confirm or deny the existence or non-existence of the document requested;

(d) that the document requested is publicly available or will be published within three months;

(e) that the document requested cannot be found, and this is certified in writing by the head of the public authority;

(f) that the resources required to -
(i) identify, locate or collate a document or documents;
(ii) examine a document or consult any person or body in relation to its possible disclosure; or
(iii) make a copy, or an edited copy, of a document, would substantially and unreasonably divert the resources of the public authority from its other operations, and it has not proved possible for the applicant, with advice from the public authority, to redefine his request in such a manner as to make it more easily addressed by the authority;

(g) that the document requested is not held by the public authority and the person dealing with the request has no grounds for believing that the document is held by, or connected more closely with the functions of, another public authority; or

(h) that the request is frivolous or vexatious or that the information requested is trivial.
Reason for refusal to be given.

523. (1) Where a request made in accordance with this Title is refused, the public authority shall –

(a) subject to article 542 of this Code, give the applicant the reasons for the refusal; and

(b) state that the applicant has the right, under article 531 of this Code, to seek an investigation and review by the Commissioner of the refusal.

(2) A notice under this article is not required to contain any matter that is of such a nature that its inclusion in a document would cause that document to be an exempt document.

Decisions by public authorities under this Title.

524. (1) A decision by a public authority in respect of a request under this Title shall, subject to article 325(c) of this Code, be taken by -

(a) the head of the public authority; or

(b) an employee of the public authority, acting within the scope of the authority exercisable by him in accordance with arrangements approved by the head of the authority or by its governing board.

Cap. 50.

(2) The provisions of Sub-Title II other than articles 520 and 521 shall apply mutatis mutandis to a request made under subarticle (1).

(2) A reference to the information on which any findings were based need not be given under subarticle (1)(b) if -

(b) after consultation undertaken (where practicable) by or on behalf of the public authority with a natural person’s medical practitioner, the public authority is satisfied that the information relates to that person and the disclosure of the information (being information that relates to the physical or mental health of the person making the request under this article) would be likely to prejudice the physical or mental health of that person; or

(c) in the case of a natural person under the age of eighteen, the disclosure of the information would be contrary to that person’s interests; or

(d) the disclosure of the information (being information in respect of a person who has been convicted of an offence or is or has been detained in custody) would be likely to prejudice the safe custody or the rehabilitation of that person.

(3) For the purposes of subarticle (2)(a), the term "evaluative material" means an assessment or opinion compiled solely -

(5) Where the land is to be acquired on behalf and for the use of a third party for a purpose connected with or ancillary to the public interest or utility, the acquisition shall, in every case, be by the absolute purchase of the land.

768. (1) Without prejudice to the provisions of subarticle (2), no person shall require any proof of the public purpose referred to in articles 750 and 751 and in article 768(1) other than the declaration of the President of Malta.

(2) Any person who has an interest in land, in respect of which a declaration of the President as is referred to in subarticle (1) is made, may contest the public purpose of the said declaration before the Administrative Court by means of an application to be filed in the registry of the said Court within twenty days from the publication of the said declaration and the provisions of this Code applicable to the hearing of causes before the Administrative Court, including the provisions regarding appeals from such decisions, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to the determination of the said application.

(3) The filing of an application in terms of this subarticle shall not hinder the continuance of the expropriation proceedings or the doing of anything that may be done in respect of the land as provided in this Code during the time when the application is still not determined, without prejudice to the right of the applicant to seek compensation in the event that the declaration of the President is found to be without public purpose.

(4) The competent authority shall by not later than twenty days after the publication of the declaration of the President of Malta affix as it deems appropriate and if physically possible a notice of the said declaration on the land about which that declaration was issued.

Power of competent authority to dispose of land.

769. The competent authority may deal with and dispose of land acquired by it in such manner and subject to such conditions as it considers expedient having regard to the public interest or utility.
Preliminary investigation.

770. (1) Whenever the President of Malta considers it desirable that any land should be examined with a view to its possible acquisition for any public purpose, he may make a declaration signed by him to that effect, and thereafter it shall be lawful for any person either generally or specially authorised by the competent authority in that behalf, and for his assistants and workmen to do all or any of the following things:

(a) to enter upon and survey and take levels of any such land;

(b) to dig or bore under the subsoil;

(2) No person shall enter into any building or upon any court or garden attached to any dwelling-house except with the consent of the occupier thereof, without previously giving such occupier at least seven days notice of his intention to do so.

(3) As soon as conveniently may be after any entry made under sub-articles (1) and (2), the competent authority shall pay for all damage done, and in case of dispute as to the amount to be paid, either the competent authority or the person claiming compensation may refer such dispute to the Administrative Court.

(4) An appeal shall lie from the Administrative Court’s decision to the Constitutional Court in terms of article 997 of this Code.

Notice of intention to take land.

771. (1) Whenever the President of Malta declares that any land is required for a public purpose, the competent authority shall cause a copy of such declaration (together with particulars sufficient for the purpose of identifying the land) to be published in the Gazette, in at least two local newspapers (one of which must be a newspaper published in English and the other a newspaper published in Maltese) and on the notice board of the office of the Local Council of the locality where the land is situated.

Cap. 12.

(2) The competent authority shall also file a copy of the declaration and of the particulars in the registry of the Administrative Court, and shall cause a copy thereof to be served through the court’s registry in the manner prescribed by the Code of Organisation and Civil Procedure on every owner of and on every other party having a legal interest in the land to which the declaration refers, of whose existence and identity the competent authority is aware.
Proceedings when owner is unknown, etc. Cap. 12.

772. When the owner or any of the owners of land to be compulsorily acquired by a competent authority is unknown or uncertain or is absent or a minor or an incapacitated person not legally represented or not known to the competent authority to be legally represented, proceedings under this Title shall be instituted against curators to be appointed by the Administrative Court, to represent that owner or owners as provided in the Code of Organization and Civil Procedure.

773. (1) Where the land to be acquired by a competent authority belongs to a person interdicted, or to a minor, or to a person subject to any other disability, or is dotal or subject to entail or to usufruct or to use or habitation, or is the object of an emphyteutical grant of which the time is determined by reference to the duration of lives, no special judicial or other authorization shall be necessary, but any compensation payable in terms of this Title, together with a sum amounting to 3% on the compensation assessed, shall be deposited in the Civil Court (Voluntary Jurisdiction Section), and shall not be withdrawn without the authorization of the competent court. The provisions of article 2 of the Investment of Certain Moneys Ordinance shall apply in the case of property subject to entail unless the court shall otherwise provide.

(2) In the case of the deposit of the compensation under the provisions of subarticle (1), the lawful expense of the proceedings for the withdrawal of the deposit shall be charged to the competent authority.

(3) The provisions of subarticles (1) and (2) shall apply similarly to acquisition rent and to recognition rent but so that in no case shall additional amounts, computed at 3% of each of the successive instalments deposited of acquisition rent or of recognition rent, be payable in respect of more than four instalments of acquisition rent or of recognition rent due in respect of any one acquisition for the possession and use of land or, as the case may be, on public tenure.

Rights of Government over land.

774. (1) Within fourteen working days from the date of publication in the Gazette, required under article 771(1), of a declaration made under article 765, the owner and the occupier, if any, of the land shall yield up possession thereof to the competent authority. However, if the land of which possession is so required, is a dwelling house actually occupied as such, the occupier shall not be required to yield up possession thereof before the lapse of twenty days from the date when alternative accommodation, reasonably sufficient for the persons resident in that dwelling house, has been offered in writing by the competent authority to the said occupier.

(2) On the lapse of the time mentioned in subarticle (1) the competent authority may without any further formality enter upon and take possession of the land or authorize any person to enter upon and take possession of the land and,
notwithstanding any restriction imposed on such land by any other law or by any instrument or otherwise, do or authorize any person to do in or upon or in relation to such land any work or other thing whatsoever which any person having an unrestricted interest in the land would be entitled to do by virtue of that interest saving the liability of the competent authority to re-instate the land or pay compensation for any damage caused if in the cases permitted by this Title the acquisition is not completed.

(3) Without prejudice to the provisions of article 785(3), simple interest at the rate of five per centum per annum shall accrue on the value of the land in accordance with the Fourteenth Schedule, and for the period indicated in such Schedule, in favour of any person having a right of compensation in respect of any land acquired by the absolute purchase thereof under this Title.

(4) Where a notice to treat has been issued under this Title, the interest shall accrue on the value determined in such notice, from the date of the taking of possession of the land by the competent authority up to the date of transfer by title of absolute purchase in favour of the Government of Malta.

(5) When a notice to treat has been issued and the person entitled to compensation elected not to accept the price offered therein, simple interest at the rate of five per centum per annum shall accrue on the value of the land in accordance with the Fifteenth Schedule, and for the period indicated in that Schedule, in favour of any person having a right of compensation in respect of any land acquired by absolute purchase thereof under this Title.

Amount of compensation may be fixed by agreement:

775. (1) The amount of compensation to be paid for any land required by a competent authority may be determined at any time by agreement between the competent authority and the owner, saving the provisions contained in subarticle (2).

(2) The compensation shall in the case of acquisition of land for temporary possession and use be an acquisition rent and in the case of acquisition of land on public tenure be a recognition rent determined in either case in accordance with the relevant provisions contained in article 787 of this Code.

(3) Acquisition rent or recognition rent as the case may be shall be payable to the person who is entitled to receive, or is immediately entitled to let and receive, the rental on lease of the land affected or the tutor, curator, administrator, procurator or other representative of the person so entitled.

(4) If the competent authority is not aware of the name and residence within Malta of the person to whom acquisition rent or recognition rent is so payable it may deposit such rent in the Civil Court (Voluntary Jurisdiction Section) in accordance with the provisions of article 773 of this Code.
An owner shall not be required to sell or convey to the competent authority a part only of any house or other building, if such owner is willing and able to sell and convey the whole thereof.

Portion of building site.

An owner shall not be required to sell or convey to the competent authority a portion only of a building site, if the remaining portion measures less than two hundred and twenty square metres, or if, in the opinion of the Administrative Court, the remaining portion, owing to its conformation and extension, will cease to be adaptable for building purposes under the laws and regulations relating to buildings; in any such case the competent authority shall acquire the whole site.

(2) If the owner owns adjacent land, the Administrative Court may declare that the foregoing provisions of this article do not apply to the land to be acquired.

Portion of land.

An owner shall not be required to transfer a portion only of any land if such portion exceeds three quarters of the area of the whole and the remaining portion measures less than one thousand one hundred and twenty-four square metres and that owner does not own any adjacent land.

Valuation of land not being a building site.

Any land which is not a building site shall be valued for the purpose of determining the compensation payable in the case of compulsory acquisition as rural land or as wasteland, as the case may be.

(2) In determining such compensation, consideration shall be given to the value of any structures existing thereon and whether such structures are covered by a permit according to law.

Building sites.

Land, other than a historical building, shall be deemed to be a building site if it falls within the limits of a building scheme or as indicated and approved for development in a Structure Plan or subsidiary plan which has been adopted for the time being in force under any law relating to planning.

(2) In determining the compensation due for a building site, consideration shall be given to the use or development that can be made thereof or thereon in accordance with the provisions of subarticle (1).

(b) in respect of which a declaration under article 3 was issued before the 5th March 2003, and

(c) in respect of which a notice to treat was not issued before the 1st January 2005 under the provisions of this Title as in force before the date mentioned in this paragraph, shall, saving any interests due until payment is made under article 774(3), be its value as on the 1st January 2005.

Land occupied for ten years; application that it be purchased or acquired on public tenure, etc.

782. (1) When land has been acquired by a competent authority for use and possession during such time as the exigencies of the public purpose shall require, the owner may, after the lapse of ten years from the date when possession was taken by the competent authority, apply to the Administrative Court for an order that the land be purchased or acquired on public tenure or vacated within a period of one year from the date of the order, and the land shall either be vacated or acquired on public tenure or purchased upon compensation to be determined in accordance with the provisions of this Title.

(2) When land which has been in the possession and use of a competent authority is vacated, the competent authority may remove all buildings, erections, or other improvements erected or made thereon during the period of occupation, making such compensation to the owner of the land for the damage which may have been caused by the erection of such buildings or otherwise, as may be agreed between the competent authority and the owner or as, in default of agreement, shall be assessed by the Administrative Court.

(3) When a competent authority has acquired any land for possession and use or, as the case may be, on public tenure and subsequently converts into public tenure or, as the case may be, into absolute ownership the title upon which such land is held, in assessing for purposes of that conversion of title the amount of the recognition rent or, as the case may be, of the compensation for the acquisition of the absolute ownership, no regard shall be had to any building, erection or other improvement erected or made on the land after the date upon which the possession thereof was taken by the competent authority and for purposes of such assessment the land shall be deemed not to have been altered in any material particular as from the first day of such possession.

(4) When the ownership of land which is in the possession and use of a competent authority or is held by it on a public tenure is transferred by its owner to a third party, such transfer shall not affect in any way the subsisting possession or tenure by the competent authority, except that as from the first due day of an instalment of acquisition rent or of recognition rent following service on the competent authority of a judicial letter sent by the transferor and by the transferee jointly and containing full information of the transfer effected or, alternatively, following the submission of proof by the transferor or by the transferee to the satisfaction of the competent authority that the transfer has in fact taken place in a form valid according to law, the acquisition rent or the recognition rent shall be paid to the transferee.

(5) Public tenure shall of its nature endure in perpetuity, without prejudice to any consolidation by mutual consent or otherwise according to law of that tenure with the residual ownership of the land; and the recognition rent payable in respect thereof shall in every case be unalterable, without prejudice to the effects of any consolidation, total or partial. The residual ownership of land held on public tenure with the inherent right to receive recognition rent, shall, for all purposes of law, be deemed to be an immovable right by reason of the object to which it refers and shall be transferable according to law at the option of the owner, from time to time, of that right.

(6) The competent authority shall not be under any restriction as to the use it may make from time to time of land held by it on public tenure, saving its liability to pay any recognition rent that may be due thereon; it may demolish and not replace any structures thereon, and it may alter in any manner the use to which the land was previously put; it shall be entitled to any benefit whatsoever which every parcel of land held by it on public tenure may yield, including treasure trove found thereon, saving in this case such portion thereof as, according to law, may be due to the finder; and it shall have the right to recover any such land from any holder, even if such holder is entitled to a recognition rent in respect of the same land.

(7) The person entitled or the persons jointly entitled to receive a recognition rent shall not in any case be bound to carry out in or on the land or in or on any part of the land, in respect of which he or they are entitled to that recognition rent, any work imposed by law on an owner of land; nor shall his or their right to the recognition rent be affected in any way by the destruction in whole or in part and from whatsoever cause of any or all structures originally or subsequently erected on the land.

(8) The competent authority may, at any time, put up for sale by tender any block of urban tenements or one or more urban tenements capable of separate occupation or any parcel of land, in each case held by the competent authority on public tenure; and in connection with such or any other purpose it shall be lawful for the competent authority to apportion, as it deems fit, to any specified lot or lots comprising part of a parcel of land originally acquired as subject to a single recognition rent, a part or the whole of that recognition rent. Any such sale, however, shall be subject to the following special provisions:
(a) the recognition rent apportioned to any plot shall not exceed one half of the income which in the opinion of the Director of Public Works that plot might reasonably be expected to yield at the time of disposal, and the certificate of the Director of Public Works shall be final;

(b) in respect of each such case the proposed sale shall be notified by letter on behalf of the competent authority to the person at the time entitled or to the persons at the time jointly entitled to receive the original recognition rent or any part of it who appears or appear as such on the administrative books of the competent authority; but so that any default of such notification shall not in any case invalidate a sale or render it voidable;

(c) if a person who is at that time entitled to receive the original recognition rent or any part of it and appears as such on the administrative books of the competent authority, makes a tender lower than the highest tender by not more than ten per centum of that highest tender, and if, within six working days of the notification made to him in writing by the competent authority of the availability to him of the option hereunder and of the offer contained in the highest tender, that person declares in writing to the competent authority his intention of availing himself of the option hereunder, that person shall be allowed to augment the tender made by him to a parity with the highest tender. On an equality of tenders, either original or following the exercise of the option aforesaid, the tender of the person entitled to receive the recognition rent or a part thereof shall be preferred to the tender made by a person not so qualified;

Cap. 16.

(d) on completion of such a sale, the liability of the competent authority to pay the recognition rent to which the land sold is subject and any charge of that recognition rent on the Consolidated Fund shall cease, but a special privilege on the immovable sold, ranking and governed in every other way on a parity with the privilege competent to the "dominus" over the "dominium utile" under article 2010 of the Civil Code, shall obtain on the immovable in favour of the person entitled or of the persons jointly entitled to the recognition rent thereon and who is not the purchaser or are not the joint purchasers of the immovable;

(e) a sale made by the competent authority of a part of a parcel of land held by it on public tenure, as subject to an apportioned part of the recognition rent due in respect of the whole of that parcel of land, shall not as a consequence bring about the obligation of the competent authority either to guarantee payment of that part of the recognition rent apportioned to the part thus transferred of the parcel of land or to purchase absolutely the residual ownership of any other part of the same parcel of land, and no joint and several action shall lie in respect of the different portions of the original recognition rent;

(f) on any such sale as aforesaid no fine or other acknowledgement fee shall be due to the person entitled or persons jointly entitled to receive the recognition rent;

Cap. 16.

(g) the relations between the purchaser or joint purchasers of land previously held by the vendor on public tenure and the person entitled or the persons jointly entitled to receive a recognition rent thereon shall be governed by the law of emphyteusis as set out in the Civil Code.

Termination of lease: compensation.

783. (1) When land, other than rural land, has been acquired by a competent authority, either absolutely or for a time, or on public tenure, and that land is subject to a lease other than an emphyteutical lease, then, no compensation for the termination of the lease shall be paid to the tenant or occupier, if a full year’s notice to quit is given by the competent authority to such tenant or occupier.

(2) If less than a year’s notice to quit is given, due compensation shall be paid to the tenant or occupier.

(3) Compensation for the termination of the lease shall in no case exceed the fair rent of the land for a period of two years.

(4) In fixing the amount of compensation within the limit aforesaid, regard shall be had to the remaining period of the lease and to all the circumstances of the particular case.

Termination of lease of rural land: compensation.

784. (1) When rural land has been acquired by a competent authority either absolutely or for a time or on public tenure, and that land is subject to a lease other than emphyteutical lease, there shall be paid to the tenant or occupier of such land a fair compensation in respect of any agricultural improvements carried out by the tenant or occupier or by a member of the family in the said rural land during the period of eight consecutive years preceding the date of termination of the lease and an amount equal to the value of the products gathered by the tenant, occupier or by a member of the family from the said rural land, after deduction of the expenses incurred towards its cultivation in the last four years immediately preceding the date of such termination.

(2) There shall not be deducted as part of the said expenses the cost of the tenant’s or occupier’s own labour or the labour of any member of the family in the rural land.
(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of subarticle (1), if the compensation in respect of improvements referred to in the said subarticle, or a part thereof, is payable to the owner of the rural land in terms of the agreement governing the contractual relations between such owner and the tenant or occupier of the rural land, such compensation or the part thereof which is so payable shall not be paid to the said tenant or occupier.

(4) The total aggregate sum payable to the tenant or occupier of the rural land under the last preceding subarticle shall in no case be less than the fair rent of the rural land for a period of two years.

(5) In this article "member of the family" means a lineal ascendant, a lineal descendant, a widow or a widower, a son-in-law, and a widowed daughter-in-law while not remarried, of the tenant or occupier.

Procedure.

785. (1) If the competent authority and the owner agree as to the amount of compensation for any land, the Administrative Court, on the application of any one of the parties, shall make an order carrying the agreement into effect. However, the amount of acquisition rent or recognition in rent, as the case may be, shall be determined in terms of the relevant provisions of article 787 of this Code.

(2) Where the land is to be acquired by the absolute purchase thereof (including the acquisition by conversion from possession and use or public tenure into absolute ownership), the President’s Declaration issued for the purposes of article 765 of this Code, shall state the amount of compensation which the competent authority is willing to pay for the land to which the declaration refers. The Declaration shall have attached with it a valuation drawn up by an architect and where available a site plan of the land described in the Declaration.

(3) Within twenty days from the publication of the President’s Declaration as is referred to in subarticle (2) in the Gazette the Government shall deposit in an interest bearing bank account (which will guarantee a minimum of interest per annum as the Minister responsible for lands may by regulation under this subarticle prescribe) a sum equal to the amount of compensation offered in the President’s Declaration. Such sum shall be freely withdrawn together with any interests accrued thereon by the person or persons entitled to such compensation upon evidence to the entitlement thereto, in a manner satisfactory to the competent authority.

(4) In cases where the President’s Declaration refers to the acquisition by conversion from possession and use or public tenure into absolute ownership, the government shall not be bound by the time-limit established in this subarticle with respect to the deposit of a sum equal to the amount of compensation offered in the President’s Declaration, and may deposit such amount any time thereafter; and in such cases simple interest at the rate of five per centum per annum shall be paid annually on the sum declared in the President’s Declaration up to the date of the eventual deposit in the Bank.

(5) In such cases, any proceeds from the sale, alienation or the creation of any real and personal right on such land, and any proceeds from any rent or other annual payment over such land, shall be retained by the Commissioner for Land and reserved for the payment to the rightful owners of the sum and interests referred to in the previous proviso and only such proceeds or payments in excess of such sum shall be transferred to and received by the Consolidated Fund.

(6) The competent authority shall signify its acceptance or otherwise of the evidence submitted by the persons referred to in subarticles (3) and (5), by means of a judicial act within two months from the submission of such evidence.

(7) The amount deposited as provided in subarticles (3), (4) and (5) together with any interests accruing thereon may be withdrawn as provided in the said subarticle whether or not the sum deposited as compensation has been accepted as the amount of compensation due, and the withdrawal of such deposit interests shall not prejudice the right competent to any person to take action according to this Ordinance for the purpose of determining any further compensation that may be payable to him in accordance with this Title.

(8) Where the person entitled to compensation does not accept that the amount deposited is adequate, such person may apply to the Administrative Court for the determination of the compensation in accordance with the provisions of this Title. Such application shall, on pain of nullity, state the compensation that in the opinion of the applicant is due.

(9) Such application shall be filed in the registry of the Administrative Court within twenty days from the notification of the judicial act by the competent authority accepting proof of evidence in accordance with subarticle (6). The Administrative Court shall determine such compensation and shall give all necessary orders and directives in accordance with this Title.

Cap. 296.

(10) Upon the making of a Declaration by the President in accordance with this Title that any land is to be acquired by the absolute purchase thereof, the absolute ownership of the land to which the declaration refers shall be deemed to be a registration area for the purposes of the Land Registration Act and the absolute ownership thereof shall by virtue of this Title and without any further assurance or formality, be transferred to and be acquired by the competent authority free and unencumbered from any charge, hypothec or privilege and with all the appurtenances thereof, and the competent authority shall cause such land to be registered in the Land Registry in its name in accordance with the Land Registry Act within three months from the issue of the Declaration of the President.
(11) The right to withdraw the compensation deposited in accordance with subarticles (3), (4) and (5) and to any further compensation that may be due under this Title (hereinafter referred to as "the compensation rights") shall be deemed to be an immovable right by reason of the object to which it refers and shall be transferable accordingly. Any charge, hypothec or privilege which prior to the acquisition of the land by the competent authority attached to such land, shall continue to attach to the compensation rights with the same ranking and priority as it attached to the land.

(12) Where the compensation payable in respect of land acquired by the absolute purchase thereof is determined, whether by agreement or by decision of the Board, any sum due as compensation over and above any sum deposited in accordance with this article together with interests thereon in accordance with article 774(3), shall be paid to the person entitled thereto by the competent authority not later than three months from the date on which such compensation was determined as aforesaid.

(13) The compensation due for the acquisition by absolute purchase of any land, and the sum to be deposited in accordance with this article shall be:

(a) in cases other than those falling under paragraphs (c) and (d), such compensation as is established in accordance with the provisions of this Title regard being had to the value at the date of publication of the Declaration by the President in the Gazette;

(b) in the case of a historical building the value thereof shall be calculated as the higher of the following:

(i) the full value of the historical building if sold on the open market subject to the condition that the use that can be made thereof shall be limited to use for educational, touristic or cultural purposes less the amount required for the historical building to be restored in accordance with internationally accepted guidelines and standards of craftsmanship and practice for the purpose of rendering it suitable for such educational, touristic or cultural use; or

(ii) where the historical building was originally Government-owned and transferred by Government, by updating the amount for which the said historical building was acquired from the Government commencing from a basis year not earlier than 1946 according to the index of inflation published in the Schedule to the Housing (Decontrol) Ordinance from the date of the said acquisition until the date of the Declaration of the President of Malta made in terms of article 765 of this Code and adding thereto interest on the amount as updated at the rate of five per cent per annum from the date when the said historical building was transferred by the Government until the date of the said Declaration of the President of Malta, plus the value of any improvements made to the building by the owner between the said dates, depreciated according to established accountancy standards. In calculating the compensation in accordance with this subparagraph:

Cap. 158.

1. where the historical building was originally Government-owned and transferred by Government and the said transfer took place thirty years or more before the date of the Declaration of the President of Malta in respect thereof, the amount resulting after the value of the building based on the amount for which the said historical building was acquired from the Government is updated until the date of the said Declaration by the President of Malta in accordance with the index of inflation published in the Schedule to the Housing (Decontrol) Ordinance as aforesaid shall be multiplied by fifteen;

Cap. 158.

2. where the historical building was originally Government-owned and transferred by Government and the said transfer took place less than thirty years but more than twenty years before the date of the Declaration of the President of Malta in respect thereof, the amount for which the said historical building was acquired from the Government is updated until the date of the said Declaration by the President of Malta in accordance with the index of inflation published in the Schedule to the Housing (Decontrol) Ordinance shall be multiplied by ten;

Cap. 158.

3. where the historical building was originally Government-owned and transferred by Government and the said transfer took place more than ten but less than twenty years before the date of the Declaration of the President of Malta in respect thereof, the amount for which the said historical building was acquired from the Government is updated until the date of the said Declaration by the President of Malta in accordance with the index of inflation published in the Schedule to the Housing (Decontrol) Ordinance shall be multiplied by five;

4. where the foregoing sub-sub-paragraphs 1 and 2 of this sub-paragraph apply, the interest payable according to subparagraph (ii) shall only be payable on the amount as updated according to the said subparagraph and not also on the increase resulting after sub-sub-paragraphs 1, 2 or 3 are applied; or
Cap. 364.

(iii) where the historical building is not a building which was originally Government-owned, the amount established as the value of the building by the person who is the owner of the building at the time of publication of the Declaration of the President of Malta in a declaration in respect of the transfer causa mortis of the property filed in accordance with the Duty on Documents and Transfers Act, or according to the declaration made for succession duty purposes according to any other law which has from time to time governed or is governing succession duty, updated in accordance with the provisions of subparagraph (ii), including the proviso thereto, which shall apply mutatis mutandis. Where only an undivided portion or undivided portions of a historical building have been so declared in respect of a transfer causa mortis or in any other manner for succession duty purposes, the value of the whole building for the purposes of this subparagraph (iii) shall be based on the projection of the value declared in respect of the said portion or portions averaged out together in such a manner as to cover one hundred per cent of the value of the building increased by ten per cent;

(iv) where the historical building, whether it originally belonged to Government or not, either has never been transferred causa mortis or after being transferred causa mortis was transferred inter vivos under an onerous title, the amount paid for such transfer by means of the most recent transfer prior to the date of publication of the Declaration of the President of Malta updated in accordance with the provisions of subparagraph (ii), including the sub-sub-paragraphs thereto, which shall apply mutatis mutandis. Where the Administrative Court in proceedings filed before it in terms of this Title on the compensation to be paid for the acquisition of a historical building, considers that no reasonable relationship of proportionality exists between the compensation amount resulting from the application of paragraphs (i), (ii), (iii) or (iv) and the open market price which in the opinion of the Board, after taking into consideration all relevant issues of fact and of law, that property would have fetched had it been sold voluntarily tale quale on the open market, at the time of publication of the Declaration of the President of Malta, the Board may authorise payment of a compensation amount based on the average between the computed amount in terms of paragraphs (i), (ii), (iii) or (iv) and such amount as the Board would consider to be the open market value;

(v) notwithstanding the other provisions of this subarticle, where the value of a historical building as calculated in accordance with subparagraphs (i), (ii), (iii) or (iv) including the sub-sub-paragraphs thereof, shall result in an amount that is higher than the open market value of the said building at the time of publication of the Declaration of the President of Malta in respect thereof, the value of the historical building shall not exceed the said open market value;

(vi) in this subarticle:-

"the full value of the historical building" means:

(a) if the historical building belongs in absolute ownership to the person from whom it has been expropriated, the full value of that building;

(b) if the historical building is possessed by the person from whom it has been expropriated under title of perpetual emphyteusis, the full value of such perpetual emphyteusis at the time of the Declaration of the President of Malta;

(c) if the historical building is possessed by the person from whom it has been expropriated under title of temporary emphyteusis or under any other temporary title, the full value of such title of temporary emphyteusis or of such other temporary title at the time of the Declaration of the President of Malta;

"was originally Government-owned" means that the historical building was possessed by Government under a title of full ownership, perpetual emphyteusis or by virtue of any other temporary real right at any time from the 27th July 1925 onwards;

"transferred by Government" includes any transfer of a real right over immovable property including transfer under title of sale and emphyteusis whether in perpetuity or temporarily;

"the amount for which the said historical building was acquired from the Government" means:

(f) to order the execution of its own decisions:
(2) The amount of compensation to be assessed by the Board in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (e), shall not exceed the higher amount of compensation as proposed by any of the parties.

(3) Whenever a question arises before the Administrative Court requiring the valuation of any land or any other technical opinion in connection with any case before the Administrative Court, the Chairman shall appoint two experts who are not chosen from amongst the members of the Panel to examine the land in question, or to take cognizance of the record of the case relative to the matter in which the technical opinion is requested; and such two members shall present their report to the Chairman during the sitting or file the said report in the Registry of the Board as the Chairman may direct. The report shall be accessible to the parties who shall be granted the opportunity to put questions in writing thereon to the said two experts and to comment thereon to the Administrative Court.

(4) The parties, without prejudice to their right to bring during the evidence stage their own expert witnesses ex parte, shall not be entitled to request the appointment of additional referees.

(5) When the report referred to in subarticle (3) consists of a valuation it shall state:

(8) The parties shall be heard on a day to be fixed by the Administrative Court.
Assessment of compensation by the Administrative Court.

787. (1) Without prejudice to any special provision contained in this Title, in assessing compensation the Administrative Court shall act in accordance with the following rules:

(a) no allowance shall be made on account of the acquisition being compulsory;

(b) the value of the land shall, subject as hereinafter provided, be taken to be the amount which the land if sold in the open market by a willing seller might be expected to realize:

Provided that -

(i) the value of the land shall be the value as at the time when the President’s Declaration was served, without regard to any improvements or works made or constructed thereafter on the said land and where the land was in the possession of the competent authority immediately prior to the service of the President’s Declaration no regard shall be had, in assessing the value of the land, to any improvements or works made or constructed by the competent authority while in possession of the land;

(ii) where a part only of the land belonging to any person is taken under this Title, any enhancement of the value of the residue of the land by reason of the proximity of any improvements or works made or constructed by the competent authority within eighteen months before the publication of the President’s Declaration, or to be made or constructed by the competent authority within eighteen months after the publication of the President’s Declaration shall be taken into consideration;

(iii) the damage, if any, sustained by the owner by reason of the severance of the land from other land belonging to such owner or other injurious effect upon such other land by reason of the exercise of the powers conferred by this Title, shall be taken into consideration;

(iv) where damage has been sustained by reason of any works done in or upon the land, regard shall be had to any increase in the value of the land by reason of any improved drainage and any other advantage derived from any such works;

(v) compensation in respect of a historical building shall be assessed in accordance with article 785(13)(b) of this Code.
(2) When the compensation to be assessed is in respect of the possession and use only of an old urban tenement and not also of the ownership thereof, the amount of the acquisition rent shall be assessed at the yearly rent of the tenement as shown on the registers of the Land Valuation Office.

(3) Where, however,

Cap. 116.

(a) the fair rent of an old dwelling house as unfurnished has been assessed by the Rent Regulation Board under the provisions of the Rent Restriction (Dwelling Houses) Ordinance, or

Cap. 69.

(b) the rent of an old urban tenement let unfurnished at a rent not in excess of ninety-three euro and seventeen cents (93.17) a year has, after the 31st March, 1939, been assessed by the Rent Regulation Board under the provisions of the Reletting of Urban Property (Regulation) Ordinance on consideration of the reports of the two members of the Panel assigned to that case by that Board or the report of the technical members of that Board, as the case may be, following an inspection by them of the building, or

Cap. 69.

(c) the rent of an old dwelling house let unfurnished at a rent in excess of ninety-three euro and seventeen cents (93.17) but not in excess of one hundred and sixteen euro and forty-seven cents (116.47) a year or of an old shop (within the meaning of the Reletting of Urban Property (Regulation) Ordinance) let unfurnished at a rent in excess of ninety-three euro and seventeen cents (93.17) a year has, at any time between the 1st April, 1939, and the 11th June, 1940, been increased under the provisions of article 14(2) of the Reletting of Urban Property (Regulation) Ordinance, or

(d) the rent of an old dwelling house let unfurnished at a rent in excess of one hundred and sixteen euro and forty-seven cents (116.47) a year has been increased at any time between the 1st April, 1939, and the 11th June, 1940, the yearly rent so assessed, or mutually agreed upon, shall constitute the assessment of the acquisition rent payable in respect of the possession and use of the old urban tenement concerned.

(4) Where two or more determinations in respect of the same building have been given by the Rent Regulation Board (referred to in subarticle (3)) the assessment made by the last determination shall constitute the assessment of the amount of the acquisition rent if that determination was given following an inspection of the building by the two experts appointed by the Administrative Court to that case, and on consideration of their report.

(5) Where a determination has been given by the Rent Regulation Board subsequently to an increase of rent referred to in subarticle (3)\((d)\) the rent fixed by that Board shall constitute the assessment of the amount of the acquisition rent, if that determination was given following an inspection of the building by the two experts appointed by the Administrative Court to that case, and on consideration of their report.

(6) Where the yearly rent of an old urban tenement has not been assessed by the Rent Regulation Board as set out in subarticles (3), (4) and (5) and the competent authority or the owner proves that the average yearly rent of the building during the five years from the 1st April, 1934, to the 31st March, 1939, was different to that shown on the registers of the Land Valuation Office, such average yearly rent shall constitute the assessment of the amount of the acquisition rent instead of the rent as shown on the registers of the Land Valuation Office.

(7) For purposes of this Title, any determination referable to any part in use of an urban tenement damaged or partly demolished by enemy or counter enemy action, which may have been made by the Rent Regulation Board upon consideration of that damage or partial demolition, shall be deemed to be inoperative.

Cap. 116.

(8) The acquisition rent to be assessed in respect of the possession and use of a new urban tenement shall be equal to the yearly rent determined by the appropriate board under the provisions of the Rent Restriction (Dwelling Houses) Ordinance, or in default of any such determination, by the Administrative Court in accordance with the rules contained in the said Rent Restriction (Dwelling Houses) Ordinance, applicable to the assessment of the yearly rent of a new urban tenement.

(9) The amount of the acquisition rent in respect of the acquisition for possession and use of building sites not being urban tenements, of agricultural lands, or of waste lands shall be assessed at the estimated yearly rental value thereof as on the 31st March, 1939.

(10) For the purpose of assessing acquisition rent under subarticle (9) land shall be considered as agricultural land, a building site or waste land as the case may have been on the 31st March, 1939, and no consideration shall be taken of contingencies through which its nature or its value may have been altered since the 31st March, 1939, provided that the provisions contained in subarticle (12) shall apply to such structural additions as may have been effected on the land, between the 1st April, 1939 and the 28th November, 1946.
(11) For the purpose of subarticle (9) the yearly rental value of a building site means the estimated yearly ground rent at which that site could reasonably have been granted on 31st March, 1939, on emphyteusis in perpetuity; and the yearly rental value of waste land means the estimated yearly ground rent at which that land could reasonably have been granted on the 31st March, 1939, on a ninety-nine year emphyteusis inclusive of the emphyteuta’s undertaking to improve the land for agricultural purposes.

(12) In the case of structural alterations or additions effected on the land between the 1st April, 1939, and the date of the declaration made by the President of Malta under article 765 of this Code, the acquisition rent as fixed in the foregoing articles - not being rent previously fixed or revised by the Land Valuation Officer or previously fixed by the Rent Regulation Board after the alterations or additions were carried out - shall be revised by the competent authority and the owner, and, in case of disagreement, by the Board on the submission of either of them.

(13) The compensation in respect of the acquisition of any land on public tenure shall be equal to the acquisition rent assessable in respect thereof in accordance with the provisions contained in subarticles (2) to (12), inclusive, of this article, increased (a) by forty per centum (40%) in the case of an old urban tenement and (b) by twenty per centum (20%) in the case of agricultural land.

(14) The first payment of acquisition rent in respect of land of which possession and use is required for a public purpose shall be due as from the date of acquisition by the competent authority of possession of that land.

(15) Acquisition rent payable by the Government of Malta shall be a charge on the Consolidated Fund without any further appropriation than this Title.

(16) Acquisition rent shall be fixed on a yearly basis but shall be paid half yearly in advance. However, the competent authority at its option may at any time pay a broken amount in respect of any one or more parcels of land in order to regulate the due dates of payment thereafter in respect thereof.

(17) Recognition rent payable by the Government of Malta shall be a charge on the Consolidated Fund without any further appropriation than this Title.

(18) The provisions concerning acquisition rent contained in subarticles (14) and (16) shall apply mutatis mutandis to recognition rent.

(19) Besides the acquisition rent or, as the case may be, recognition rent to be assessed in accordance with the provisions of this Title, the competent authority in the circumstances set out hereunder, but not otherwise, shall in addition pay in one lump sum to the person from whom possession of the land has been compulsorily acquired a sum to be mutually agreed upon between the parties concerned, or, in default of agreement, to be assessed by the Administrative Court and in every case in the first instance the amount which the competent authority is offering for the purposes of this subarticle shall be included in the President’s Declaration together with the statement as to the amount of compensation referred to in article 785(2) of this Code. Such an additional sum shall not be payable except to -

(a) the possessor of the things which, on the date of the declaration referred to in article 765 of this Code, were bona fide serving for the furnishing of a dwelling house acquired by the competent authority and subject to the provisions contained in article 783(2), (3) and (4) of this Code not being applicable, and in such case the additional payment shall be equal to the reasonable cost of removing those furnishings to the dwelling house or to the place of storage reasonably selected by the same possessor; and

(b) the occupier of a bona fide trading establishment acquired by the competent authority and subject to the provisions contained in article 783 of this Code not being applicable, and in such case the additional payment shall be equal to the value of the goodwill of the same establishment computed at not more than the net profits made at that establishment by the same occupier during the two years ending on the date of the declaration referred to in article 765 of this Code if on that date the same occupier has been in occupation of those premises for not less than thirty months, or, in default of such occupation for at least thirty months, at not more than the net profits that would be likely to be made at that establishment by the same occupier during two years beginning on the termination of six months from the day when that occupier first started business in that establishment.

(20) If the provisions of article 783(2), (3) and (4) of this Code are applicable in respect of the occupier of a bona fide trading establishment, the additional compensation payable shall not exceed the amount provided in subarticle (3) of that article or the amount provided in paragraph (b), whichever is the greater.

Compensation for land damaged by enemy action.

788. (1) When the land has been damaged by enemy or counter-enemy action and the owner thereof was thereby entitled or might have been entitled to compensation under the War Damage Ordinance, 1943,7 the compensation payable in accordance with the provisions of this Title in respect of the compulsory acquisition of the full ownership or of the public tenure of the land or of the conversion into either title of the possession and use or of the public tenure of the land previously held by the competent authority, shall, where such compensation is computed by reference to the value of the land undamaged, be deemed to include full consideration in respect of the assignment by the owner to the competent authority of all claims competent to the owner under the War Damage Ordinance, 1943,* aforesaid up to the day when the competent authority takes possession of the land. In every case such assignment as aforesaid shall be deemed to be an integral part of any compulsory acquisition.

(2) In the case of land so damaged, however, the competent authority shall be entitled to deduct from any compensation payable under this Title -

(a) any balance not yet fallen due of the ten half yearly direct contributions, if any, payable in respect of that land under the said War Damage Ordinance, 1943*, and any arrears of such contributions which may have fallen due by the owner in respect thereof;

(b) any sum or sums which may have been advanced by the War Damage Commission to the owner when the works, on the date of the declaration made by the President of Malta under article 765 of this Code, have not been carried out, or, when only a part of the works have been carried out on that day, a proportionate part of the sum or sums so advanced.

(3) Where the owner of any land to which the provisions of subarticle (1) apply establishes that but for those provisions he would have been entitled to claim interest upon a value payment from the War Damage Commission, there shall be payable to him by the competent authority a sum equal to the amount of the acquisition rent which would have been payable to him under the provisions of article 787 of this Code if the land had been compulsorily acquired for temporary possession and use as at the date upon which such interest would begin to accrue and continuing up to the date at which the land was in fact acquired.

(4) If in any case to which the provisions of subarticle (3) apply the owner has during the relevant period received rent from a tenant who was a tenant at the commencement of the said period, the sum payable to the owner in lieu of interest shall be reduced by the amount of rent so received during the said period and the difference shall be payable to the tenant.

Clearance rights.

789.  (1) When for any public purpose any land is declared to be subject to clearance rights, no owner shall build or erect any structure on any land declared to be so subject or increase the height of any existing structure without the permission of the Administrative Court.

(2) When for any public purpose any land is declared subject to subsoil rights, no owner shall make any new or extend any existing underground work or excavation without the prior permission, in writing, of the Administrative Court.

(3) When for any public purpose any land is declared to be subject to clearance rights or to subsoil rights, no compensation shall be payable by reason only of the subjection of the land to such rights or to the possession, by the competent authority, of any underground work or excavation made or constructed by any competent authority, but the following provisions shall apply.

(4) The demand for the permission referred to in subarticle (1) and subarticle (2) shall be made by filing an application together with a plan showing the buildings or other structures proposed to be erected and the work or excavation proposed to be made. The Administrative Court shall forthwith cause notice of the application to be given to the competent authority.

(5) If the competent authority shall not oppose the application within twenty days after notice of the application shall have been given to the competent authority, the application shall be granted by the Administrative Court.

(6) If the competent authority shall oppose the grant of the permission, the Board shall, on the application of the person requiring the said permission, determine the compensation payable by reason of the refusal of the competent authority to allow the erection of the proposed buildings or other structures or the making of the proposed underground work or excavation. When compensation is paid under the provisions of this article, the Administrative Court shall specify the area in respect of which the compensation is granted, and in such case no further compensation shall at any time thereafter become payable for clearance rights or subsoil rights, as the case may be, in respect of that area, saving the provision of the last part of subarticle (9).

(7) No compensation shall be payable unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Administrative Court -

(a) that the proposal to build or to increase the height of existing buildings or to make any new or extend any existing underground work or excavation is a genuine intention on the part of the owner;

(b) that no alternative proposal can be adopted which, while not detrimental to the owner, is acceptable to the competent authority.

(8) Where any land has been declared subject to clearance or subsoil rights, any person who makes, builds or erects any structure or increases the height of any structure on the land or who makes any new or extends any existing underground work or excavation in such land, without the prior permission, in writing, of the competent authority, shall, within ten days after due notice in writing has been given to him in that behalf by the competent authority -

(a) remove any structure so made, built or erected or any such increased part of a structure; and

(b) fill in any new or extended underground work or excavation, and restore the land to its condition prior to the making of the new or extended work or excavation, and in the event of the notice not being complied with, the competent authority may order such part of a structure to be demolished, or such work or excavation to be filled in and the land restored, at the expense of the person erecting such structure or increased part of a structure or making such new or extended underground work or excavation, without any compensation to such person, and such expense shall be recoverable from him in the same manner as a fine, and he shall be liable, on conviction therefor, to a fine (multa) not exceeding fifty euro (€50) for non-compliance with such notice.

(9) Land subject to clearance rights under this article may be released by the competent authority from such rights, provided the owner consents to accept the release and pays to the competent authority such fair compensation as may be agreed upon or, in default of agreement, as may be fixed by the Administrative Court. Payment of compensation for the release from clearance rights may only be demanded by the competent authority where compensation has been paid for the subjection of the land to clearance rights in accordance with this article. Land released from clearance rights may again be declared subject to such rights.

(10) Where any land is declared subject to subsoil rights, the competent authority may retain the possession of any underground work or excavation which was constructed by the competent authority therein prior to the coming into force of this subarticle and may make or extend therein any underground work or excavation and use it for such purposes as it considers necessary:

(11) The competent authority shall take all reasonable precautions to ensure the safety and stability of any buildings or other structures on the surface of such land and any well, cellar or other underground structure used and enjoyed in connection with the occupation of such surface, and in case of injury to any such structure shall either repair and restore it to its former condition or pay compensation to the owner for any loss sustained by him by reason of such injury and the amount of such compensation shall, if the parties fail to agree thereto, be referred to and determined by the Administrative Court.

(12) Where any land has been declared subject to any rights in favour of the Government in virtue of this article, the Government may transfer any such rights over such land to any other person or authority. However, the exercise by the transferee of the right so transferred shall continue to be so exercised for a public purpose.

Right to order temporary evacuation of land.

790. (1) The President of Malta may by notice in the Gazette order the evacuation of any area where danger to life or limb is possible as a result of naval, military or air operations, and while such order is in force the danger area and all houses and buildings within that area shall be vacated by the tenants or occupiers and by any other person, and no responsibility shall lie with the naval, military or air authorities in consequence of any personal injury which may derive to any person within the danger area as a result of the said operations. Any person remaining in the danger area while any such order is in force shall, on conviction by the Court of Magistrates, be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty euro (€50).

(2) Compensation for temporary evacuation shall be paid to any person who has incurred loss or expense in consequence of the evacuation.

(3) In the event of any compensation payable under this article not being agreed upon between the competent authority and the claimant, the amount thereof shall be determined by the Board in the manner provided in this Title.

Costs.

791. (1) Where the competent authority has made an offer in writing of any sum whether payable periodically or as a lump sum as compensation to an owner and the sum awarded by the Administrative Court to that owner does not exceed the sum offered, the Administrative Court shall order the owner to bear his own costs and to pay the costs of the competent authority so far as they were incurred after the offer was made.

(2) Where an owner does not accept the offer of the competent authority and claims that the amount due as compensation should be higher, indicating such sum, whether payable periodically or as a lump sum, as compensation, and has complied with the provisions of articles 771 and 774 of this Code, and the sum awarded is more than that offered by the competent authority, then all costs shall be borne by the parties in proportion that the difference in the amount offered by the competent authority and that determined by the Administrative Court has to the difference in the amount claimed by the owner and the amount determined by the Administrative Court.

(3) Where the Administrative Court orders the owner to pay the costs or any part of the costs of the competent authority, the competent authority may deduct the amount so payable by the owner from the amount of the compensation payable to him.

Competent authority not compelled to complete acquisition of land.

792. (1) Nothing in this Title shall be taken to compel the competent authority to complete the acquisition of any land unless the competent authority shall have entered into possession of the land or have failed within one month of the decision of the Board to intimate to the Administrative Court that the competent authority do not intend to proceed with the acquisition.

(2) The owner of the land shall be entitled to receive from the competent authority all such costs as may have been incurred by him by reason or in consequence of the proceedings for acquisition and compensation for the damage (if any) which he may have sustained by reason or in consequence of the notice of intended acquisition.
(3) The amount of such costs and compensation shall, in default of agreement, be determined by the Administrative Court.

Effect of service of notice.

793. The fact that any notification has been served upon any person shall not be taken as an admission by the competent authority that the person on whom such notice has been served or any other person has any estate or interest in the land or any part of the land specified in the notice, and shall not debar the competent authority from alleging in any proceedings under this Title or otherwise that all rights in or in relation to such land are vested in the Government of Malta.

794. Any person who shall wilfully hinder or obstruct any person duly authorized from entering upon or taking possession of or using any land in pursuance of the provisions of this Ordinance, or who shall molest, hinder or obstruct any such person shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred and fifty euro (€150) or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

(4) The summons shall contain a form indicating the penalty to which the person charged may be liable if found to have committed the offence as well as the maximum additional penalty to which he may be liable under this Title, and the person charged may, up to three days before the hearing, settle the charge by paying only the penalty. In such a case such person need not appear before the Commissioner.

(5) A Commissioner may at any stage during the proceedings, authorise the addition of a fresh charge on a scheduled offence or the substitution of any charge contained in the summons by another charge on a scheduled offence:

(6) The person charged shall be afforded a reasonable time within which to prepare for his defence.

(7) Any addition or substitution may only be effected before the prosecution closes its case.

(2) Any person charged may instead of appearing before the Commissioner send to the Registry of the Commissioners representations in writing and, or a declaration on the facts of the case confirmed on oath contesting the charge against him, and the Commissioner shall, prior to deciding the case, take into account such representations and, or a declaration as if they had been made viva voce before him.

900. (1) The provisions of the Criminal Code relating to proceedings before the Court of Magistrates shall apply mutatis mutandis to proceedings before a Commissioner and a reference made to that court in that Code shall, for all intents and purposes of law, be deemed to be a reference made to a Commissioner.

committed the scheduled offence specified in the charge, the person to whom such decision applies shall not, in respect of such offence, be subject to any further proceedings before a Commissioner or before any court.

(2) Where a Commissioner decides that the person charged has committed the scheduled offence specified in the charge, a Commissioner shall declare such person guilty of an infringement and shall order such person to pay a penalty in an amount not exceeding the maximum of the fine (multa or ammenda) prescribed by law for the offence and where such law provides for the sequestration of any object used in the commission of the offence, or for the revocation or suspension of any licence the Commissioner shall order such sequestration or such revocation or suspension in addition to the penalty. However, where the Commissioner decides that the person charged committed the scheduled offence specified in the charge, he shall order that where the person charged does not pay the fine (multa or ammenda) within one month from when the case is decided finally, the person charged shall pay a penalty of twelve euro (€12) in addition to the fine (multa or ammenda).

(3) Where a Commissioner has made an order for the payment of such penalty, the Registrar of the Tribunal or other person designated by the Minister responsible for justice, shall, and in cases where the original penalty arising from the charge is due to a Local Council or to some other authority in terms of any Act, that Local Council or authority shall as soon as such order is made, proceed to the collection of the penalty. The Registrar shall immediately inform the proper authorities in writing of any forfeiture of any object used in the commission of the offence, or of the revocation or suspension of any licence ordered by a Commissioner and shall send the authority a certified copy of the judgement of the Commissioner.

(4) Where due to the commission of an offence, any public authority, including a local council, has incurred expenses to remedy the consequences of the said offence, the Commissioner may also order the payment to such authority of a sum not exceeding two thousand and five hundred euro (€2,500) that may be proved to his satisfaction to have been expended by such authority to remedy such consequences. Such amount shall be without prejudice to any other action before any court to recover any expense beyond the sum awarded by the Commissioner, and such amount shall be recoverable by such authorities as a civil debt, liquidated and certain.

(5) The amount of the penalty shall be due and owing to the Government or where the penalty is due to a Local Council in terms of the Local Councils Act, the amount of the penalty shall be due and owing to that Local Council, as a civil debt, liquidated and certain, and may be collected by the Registrar of Courts or by the Local Council, as the case may be. The order referred to in subarticle (2) shall constitute an executive title within the meaning and for the purposes of Title VII of Part I of Book Second of the Code of Organization and Civil Procedure.
The civil debt mentioned in sub-article (5) shall not pass on to the heirs of the person ordered to pay any such penalty.

Applications to Court of Magistrates.: Cap. 9.

903. (1) Any person who feels himself aggrieved by the decision of a Commissioner may, within thirty days from the day on which such decision is given, apply to the Court of Magistrates to have the judgment of a Commissioner revoked or varied, and the court aforesaid shall thereupon become vested with jurisdiction to decide upon the merits of the application.

Cap. 249.

(2) Without prejudice to the provisions of article 393 of this Code, any amendment to the Twenty-First Schedule to this Code made by regulations under the provisions of the foregoing sub-article shall not come into effect except after the lapse of twenty days from the date of publication of the said regulations in the Gazette.

Special procedure in certain cases.

907. (1) Notwithstanding any other law providing for the trial and punishment of offences, where any person commits an offence which under this or any other law has been declared a scheduled offence, the following provisions of this article shall apply.

(2) Any Police Officer and any other officer, authority or person who in accordance with any law as aforesaid is charged with the responsibility for enforcement of such law, in whose opinion any such offence has been committed may hand over to the offender a notice containing a general description of the offence, the penalty to be paid, the place where he may pay such penalty, the period within which he may effect such payment and the consequences of non-payment:

(3) If a motor vehicle, boat or other object has been used in the commission of an offence, such notice may be affixed to the windscreen or other part of such motor vehicle, boat or other object.

(4) Where it is not practicable to hand over a notice, or to fix it as aforesaid, the notice may be served to the offender in the same manner that a summons may be served in terms of article 898 of this Code.

(5) Where any notice has been handed over or is affixed as is provided in subarticle (2), the person referred to in the said notice may pay at the place mentioned in such notice within such time indicated in the notice, which in no case shall be less than seven days, a penalty in respect of each offence referred to in each such notice, provided that such penalty shall not exceed the minimum established in the law for each such offence or twenty-five euro (€25), whichever is the higher.

(6) Where any penalty imposed under subarticle (3) is not paid within the aforementioned period, ordinary proceedings in respect of the offence may be taken in accordance with the provisions of this Title or any other law.

(7) In proceedings before the Commissioner no notice need be given the offender of any date to which a case which has been set down for hearing or has started to be heard is put off and it shall be the responsibility of the offender to verify such date.

(8) The payment of any such penalty shall for all intents and purposes of law, be deemed to be an admission of the commission of the offence.

(9) Data or other information retrieved from electronic or other apparata used by a Police Officer or any other officer, authority or person who in accordance with any law as aforesaid is charged with the responsibility for the enforcement of such law shall be deemed to be proof of the contents thereof unless the defendant proves otherwise.

(10) Where the evidence to be given by any person refers to the registration of motor vehicles, boats or other objects which are required to be registered under any law, such evidence may be submitted by means of an affidavit.

(11) Where evidence is submitted by photographs, video-film or other visual means, such evidence shall be authenticated by the person who is the author of such photograph, video-film or other visual means.

(12) No proceedings before a Commissioner shall be deemed to be invalid because of the non-observance of any formalities or procedures if there has been substantial compliance with the provisions of this Title and any regulations made hereunder and the principles of natural justice have been observed.

(13) The Commissioner shall hear and determine all cases brought before him on the first day of hearing and shall only exceptionally accept a request for postponement of the hearing.

Part IX
Of State Liability
Title I
Of Governmental Liability

Principles of governmental liability.

908. (1) Governmental liability is the obligation of the public administration to make good the damage caused by its acts, either by compensation or by any other appropriate means (hereinafter referred to as "reparation").

(2) The term "act" means any action or omission which is of such a nature as to affect directly the rights, liberties or interests of persons.

(3) The acts covered by this Sub-Title are the following:

(a) normative acts in the exercise of regulatory authority;

(b) administrative acts which are not regulatory;
(c) physical acts.

(4) Amongst the acts covered by subarticle (3) are included those acts carried out in the administration of justice which are not performed in the exercise of a judicial function.

(5) The term "victim" means the injured person or any other person entitled to claim reparation.

Pre-contractual liability.

909. (1) No pre-contractual liability shall arise against the public administration.

(2) Nor may any action be decided against the public administration on the basis of pre-contractual liability.

(3) It shall be a lawful defence for the public administration to plead that it is immune from any action instituted against it on the basis of pre-contractual liability.

(4) The Administrative Court as the competent court where the public administration shall sue and be sued shall not allow an action against the public administration on the basis of pre-contractual liability.

Governmental liability under the Civil Code.

910. (1) Unless provided otherwise in this Code, the public administration shall continue to be liable for contractual and tortious liability under the provisions of the Civil Code, for any damages it may occasion to any person or property caused by an unlawful act of public administration employees when implementing the provisions of this Code or of any other law on behalf of the public administration.

(2) The injured person may sue both the public administration and, where known, a public administration employee, in one and the same cause.

(3) Where a public administration employee has caused the damage but has not been sued by the injured party, the public administration may request the Administrative Court or other court of civil jurisdiction to order the joinder of the public administration employee into the cause.

(4) When the public administration has not requested the joinder of a public administration employee responsible for the damage, it shall have a right, where the public administration has indemnified the injured person, to claim reimbursement from the public administration employee who committed or caused the violation of a law with intent or gross negligence.

Prescription against the public administration.

911. (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, indemnity claims against the public administration shall be barred by the lapse of three years after expiry of the day when the injured party became aware of the damage.
(2) Where, however, the injured party has not become aware of the damage or if the damage resulted from a criminal act, the claim for damages shall not become barred until the expiry of ten years after the damage arose.

Prescription against the public administration employee.

912. The public administration may institute an action against a public administration employee in terms of article 910(5) of this Code within five years from the date the public administration has indemnified the injured person.

Principles.

913. (1) Reparation shall be ensured for damage caused by an act due to a failure of the public administration to conduct itself in a way which can reasonably be expected from it in law in relation to the injured person.

(2) Such a failure is presumed in case of transgression of an established legal provision.

When reparation may take place.

914. Even if the conditions stated in article 913 of this Code are not met, reparation shall be ensured if it would be manifestly unjust to allow the injured person alone to bear the damage, having regard to the following circumstances:

(a) the act is in the general interest;

(b) only one person or a limited number of persons have suffered the damage; and

(c) the act was exceptional or the damage was an exceptional result of the act.

Consequences for victim when he contributes to damage.

915. (1) If the victim has, by his own fault or by his failure to use legal remedies, contributed to the damage, the reparation of the damage may be reduced accordingly or disallowed.

(2) The same shall apply if a person, for whom the victim is responsible, has contributed to the damage.

Recourse to alternative dispute resolution.

916. (1) Prior to hearing any action before the Administrative Court, the Court shall request all parties to attend mediation.

(2) The Registrar of the Malta Mediation Centre shall certify that mediation proceedings have been concluded before the court can hear the case.

(3) Such certificate shall be filed before the Administrative Court so that the action could continue should the mediation proceedings not come to a successful end.
(4) The provisions of article 460 of the Code of Organization and Civil Procedure shall not apply to an action against the public administration (see consequential amendment revoking article 460 COCP).

Reparation, how made.

917. (1) Reparation under article 913 of this Code shall be made in full, it being understood that the determination of the heads of damage, of the nature and of the form of reparation falls within the competence of the Administrative Court.

(2) Reparation under article 914 of this Code shall be made only in part, on the basis of equitable principles.

Implementation of reparation.

918. (1) Decisions granting reparation shall be implemented as quickly as possible.

(2) This shall be ensured by appropriate budgetary or other measures.

No discrimination on nationality of victim.

919. The nationality of the victim should not give rise to any discrimination in the field of liability of the public administration.

When civil liability arises.

920. The civil liability of the public administration arises both when it acts jure gestionis and when it acts jure imperii.

No exemption from civil liability.

921. The state shall be actionable before the Administrative Court and shall not enjoy immunity from civil liability when acting jure imperii except when there is an express provision of law stating that such is the case.

Non-applicability of the dual personality of the state.

922. The continental doctrine of the dual personality of the state which has been refuted by case law shall continue not to be applied by the Administrative Court when adjudging a claim for civil liability against the public administration.

Public administration to make good for damages and duty to care.

923. (1) The public administration has a duty to make good any damage it causes if it exercised its powers outside of the proper limits.

(2) The public administration has a duty to care towards the public in the performance of its executive functions.

Application of the doctrine of cumul to administrative proceedings.

924. In the case of concurrent liability of the public administration, a concurrent claim in contract and in tort may be brought in one and the same action against the public administration.

Public administration to act as a bonus pater familias.

925. The public administration, in its relations with other parties, shall act as a bonus pater familias, that is, as a reasonable man should act, and the public administration shall be guided by its duty to care towards the public.

Public administration to act diligently.

926. The public administration shall act diligently.

No need to prove incompetence of a public administration employee.

927. (1) In an action for damages against the public administration, the applicant shall not be required to prove that a public administration employee was incompetent.

(2) Nor shall it be required to prove that the said public administration employee was incompetent at the time when the employee was first engaged.

(3) Nor shall it be a lawful defence to plead that the act or omission which caused the damages by the public administration had been carried out in the public interest.

Public administration to assume responsibility for incompetent employees.

928. (1) The public administration shall assume responsibility for acts of incompetent public administration employees. It shall have a right to sue such employee in a subsequent case within five years on the Administrative Court decision becoming res judicata or else it may, where known, request the Administrative Court to order the joinder of the said employees in the court case.

(2) The level of diligence required by a public employee is that of a bonus paterfamilias in accordance with article 1032 of the Civil Code, that is, that of a reasonable man. The diligence required of a public employee is the diligence used by a competent person carrying out that job.

(3) The diligence to act as a bonus paterfamilias can be warranted contractually or tortuously.

(4) A public employee will not be held tortuously liable if at all stages he acts in accordance with the principles of good administration as set out in this Code.

(5) The claimant shall prove that the public employee was at fault in a general sense.

(6) Where the public employee is bound by law to act in a certain way evidence that he did not perform such duty is enough to give rise to civil responsibility. This arises from article 1033 of the Civil Code which states that liability arises if the damage is a result of the person breaching a duty imposed by law.
Acting within the law may still give rise to liability.

929. The fact alone that the public administration has acted within the law in no way means that it is free from fault when it does not act as a reasonable man would act in those circumstances.

Action against a public administration employee.

930. The obligation of the public administration to compensate for damage caused to any person is accompanied by the right to file an action for indemnity against the public administration or the public administration employee, when known, who caused the damage. The main principles of action against officials are:

(a) such an employee is required to compensate for damage, wrongfully caused as a result of a breach of duties. Consequently there is no recourse if damage was caused lawfully or if the official was not guilty;

(b) the amount of compensation is determined on the basis of the economic situation of the public administration employee, the assessment of the risk of causing damage arising from the nature of duties, lack of experience objectively arising from the length of service, the service-related orders and instructions issued to the said employee, and other circumstances which would render compensation for damage by the official in full unfair;

(c) if damage was not caused intentionally, the compensation shall not exceed six times the amount of the total of the salary and additional remuneration of the public administration employee.

Nature of public office. Public office is a public trust.

931. Public administration employees shall at all times be accountable to the people, serve them with the utmost responsibility, integrity, loyalty and efficiency, act with patriotism and justice, and lead modest lives.

Liability of superior officers.

932. (1) A public administration employee shall not be civilly liable for acts done in the performance of his official duties, unless there is a clear showing of bad faith, negligence or gross negligence.

(2) Any public administration employee who, without just cause, neglects to perform a duty within a period fixed by law, or within a period of eight weeks if no such period is fixed, shall be liable for damages to the person concerned without prejudice to such other liability as may be prescribed by law.

(3) A head of a department or a superior officer shall not be civilly liable for the wrongful acts, omissions of duty, or negligence of his subordinates, unless he has actually authorized by written order the specific act or misconduct complained of.
Liability of subordinate officers.

933. No subordinate officer or employee shall be civilly liable for acts done by him in good faith in the performance of his duties. However he shall be liable for wilful or negligent acts done by him which are contrary to law even if he acted under orders or instructions of his superiors.

Title II

Of Judicial Liability

Immunity from judicial liability for acts performed in office.

934. (1) No action may be brought against a member of the judiciary or a member of a tribunal for any act or decision taken by the said member in the exercise of his official judicial functions.

(2) However, a member of the judiciary and a member of a tribunal may still be sued personally if it is alleged that in the exercise of their functions they had violated the law as a result of which the plaintiff suffered damages.

(3) It shall also be possible to sue a member of the judiciary or of a tribunal for wrong doing on his part in the case of fraud, when his wrong doing is malicious or when his act is in breach of European Union Law.

Subpoena of a member of the judiciary to give evidence.

935. (1) A member of the judiciary or of a tribunal shall not give evidence on matters which came to his knowledge in the exercise of official judicial functions unless the said member’s evidence is absolutely required in the supreme interests of justice.

(2) The evidence requested has to be essential and vital to the administration of justice and that such evidence cannot be obtained otherwise and that what was requested from the said member of the judiciary or of a tribunal did not result from the acts of the proceedings.

(3) The procès-verbal as dictated by the court or tribunal and contained in the court file constitutes an authentic report of the res gestae of the court’s or tribunal’s proceedings.

(4) The notes of a member of the judiciary or of a tribunal the Chairman of a tribunal taken by him during the sitting are not admissible as evidence unless the same chairman inserts them in the acts of the proceedings.
Criminal action against a member of the judiciary.

936. The member of the judiciary or a tribunal shall enjoy no immunity from the institution of a criminal action.

Sub-Title III

Of the Liability of Public Administration Employees

Personal liability of public administration employees.

937. (1) A public administration employee may be sued in his personal capacity. If however it is not known whom he is, it shall be the public administration which shall be sued, subject to the provisions of article 928(1) of this Code.

(2) A public administration employee may be so sued when acting in an official capacity on the basis of the fact that his responsibility as an employee subsists when he acts illegally or beyond his lawful duties.

Title IV

Of Alternative Means of Dispute Resolution

General provisions.

938. This Sub-Title deals with alternative means for resolving disputes between the public administration and private parties.

Typology of alternative means of dispute resolution.

939. This Sub-Title deals with the following alternative means:

(a) internal reviews;

(b) conciliation;

(c) mediation;

(d) negotiated settlement; and

(e) arbitration.

Prevention of disputes.

940. Although this Sub-Title deals with resolving disputes between the public administration and any person, some alternative means of dispute resolution may also serve to prevent disputes before they arise; this is particularly the case in respect of conciliation, mediation and negotiated settlement.

Scope of alternative means.

941. Alternative means to litigation shall be either generally permitted or permitted in certain types of cases deemed appropriate, in particular those concerning individual administrative acts, contracts, civil liability, and generally speaking, claims relating to a sum of money.

Appropriateness of alternative means.

942. The appropriateness of alternative means varies according to the dispute in question.

Regulating alternative means.

943. The regulation of alternative means shall provide either for their institutionalisation or their use on a case-by-case basis, according to the decision of the parties involved.

Rules to be applied in regulating alternative means.

944. The regulation of alternative means shall:

(a) ensure that parties receive appropriate information about the possible use of alternative means;

(b) ensure the independence and impartiality of conciliators, mediators and arbitrators;

(c) guarantee fair proceedings allowing in particular for the respect of the rights of the parties and the principle of equality;

(d) guarantee, as far as possible, transparency in the use of alternative means and a certain level of discretion;

(e) ensure the execution of the solutions reached using alternative means.

Duration of alternative dispute resolution mechanisms.

945. Alternative dispute resolution procedures shall be concluded within three months from their initiation.

Recourse to alternative dispute resolution procedures before the institution of judicial proceedings.

946. Some alternative means, such as internal reviews, conciliation, mediation and the search for a negotiated settlement, may be used prior to the institution of judicial proceedings.
Arbitration is not conducive to judicial proceedings.

947. The use of arbitration shall exclude recourse to judicial proceedings.

Suspension of time limits.

948. The use of alternative means of dispute settlement shall bring with it the suspension or interruption of the time-limits for legal proceedings.

Title V

Of Judicial Review of Administrative Action

Sub-Title I

Of the Principles Guiding the Exercise of Judicial Review

Definitions.

949. For the purposes of this Title:

“administrative acts” has the same meaning as is assigned to it in article 961(2) of this Code;

“judicial review” means the examination and determination by a court or tribunal of the lawfulness of an administrative act and the adoption of appropriate measures, with the exception of review by a constitutional court.

The scope of judicial review.

950. (1) All administrative acts shall be subject to judicial review. Such review may be direct or by way of exception.

(2) A court or tribunal shall be able to review any violation of the law, including lack of competence, procedural impropriety and abuse of power.

Access to judicial review. Cap. 16.

951. (1) Judicial review shall be available to any person in respect of administrative acts that directly affect his rights or interests.

(2) Access to judicial review shall also be opened to associations or other persons and bodies empowered to protect collective or community interests.

(3) A person shall be required to exhaust remedies provided by national law before having recourse to judicial review. The length of the procedure for seeking such remedies shall not be excessive. Until such remedies are concluded, any prescriptive period for the institution of an action for judicial review shall not run and shall be suspended in terms of the Civil Code. The remedies which have to be exhausted comprise resort to mediation and to the Ombudsman and any other remedy which is established by this Code or any other law.

(4) A person shall be allowed such reasonable period of time fixed by law in which to commence judicial review proceedings.

(5) The cost of access to judicial review shall not be such as to discourage applications. Legal aid shall be available to persons lacking the necessary financial resources where the interests of justice require it.

An independent and impartial tribunal.

952. (1) Judicial review shall be conducted by a court or tribunal established by law whose independence and impartiality are guaranteed.

(2) The court or tribunal may be an administrative tribunal or part of the ordinary court system.

The right to a fair hearing.

953. (1) The time within which the tribunal takes its decision shall be reasonable in the light of the complexity of each case and of the procedural steps or postponements attributable to the parties.

(2) There shall be equality of arms between the parties to the proceedings. Each party shall be given an opportunity to present his or her case without being placed at a disadvantage.

(3) Subject to the provisions of article 637 of the Code of Organization and Civil Procedure, the public administration shall make available to the court or tribunal the documents and information relevant to the case.

(4) The proceedings shall be adversarial in nature. All evidence admitted by the court or tribunal shall in principle be made available to the parties with a view to adversarial argument.

(5) The court or tribunal shall be in a position to examine all of the legal and factual issues relevant to the case presented by the parties.

(6) The proceedings shall be public, other than in exceptional circumstances to be laid down by law.

(7) Judgment shall be pronounced in public.

(8) Reasons shall be given for the judgment. Courts and tribunals shall indicate with sufficient clarity the grounds on which they base their decisions. Although it shall not be necessary for a court or tribunal to deal with every point raised in argument, a submission that would, if accepted, be decisive for the outcome of the case requires a specific and express response.

(9) The decision of a court or tribunal that reviews an administrative act shall, at least in important cases, be subject to appeal, unless the case is directly referred to a higher court or tribunal in accordance with the national legislation.

The effectiveness of judicial review.

954. (1) If a court or tribunal finds that an administrative act is unlawful, it shall have the power necessary to redress the situation so that it is in accordance with the law. In particular, it should be competent at least to quash the administrative decision and if necessary to refer the case back to the public administration or other tribunal to take a new decision that complies with the judgment. It shall also be competent to require of the public administration, where appropriate, the performance of a duty.

(2) The court or tribunal shall also have jurisdiction to award costs of the proceedings and compensation in appropriate cases.

Sub-Title II

Of the Grounds Upon Which Judicial Review of Administrative Action may be Exercised

Definition of judicial review.

955. Judicial review is the process by which the Administrative Court exercises its supervisory jurisdiction over the proceedings and decisions of inferior courts, tribunals and other bodies or persons who carry out quasi-judicial functions or who are charged with the performance of public acts and duties.

Exclusive exercise of judicial review.

956. (1) No court of civil jurisdiction (other than the Administrative Court) shall exercise judicial review unless expressly provided for by law.

(2) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that the Civil Court, First Hall shall no longer be competent to exercise judicial review in terms of this Code, the Code of Organization and Civil Procedure or of any other law unless expressly provided for by law.
(3) It is further clarified that the Civil Court, First Hall, shall not exercise judicial review in terms of article 32 of the Code of Organization and Civil Procedure.

Nature of judicial review.

957. (1) Judicial review is not concerned with reviewing the merits of the decision in respect of which the application for judicial review is made, but the decision making process itself.

(2) Judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision was made.

(3) Judicial review is not intended to take away from the public administration the powers and discretions properly vested in them by law and to substitute the Administrative Court as the body making the decision.

(4) Judicial review is intended to see that the public administration uses its powers in a proper manner.

(5) In sum, judicial review is entirely different from an ordinary appeal: it is made effective by the court quashing an administrative decision without substituting its own decision, and is to be contrasted with an appeal where the court of second instance substitutes its own decision on the merits for that of the public administration.

Scope of judicial review.

958. Judicial review is intended to protect a person against the abuse of power by the public administration.

Purpose of judicial review.

959. (1) The purpose of judicial review is to ensure that a person is given fair treatment by the public administration to which he has been subjected.

(2) It is no part of that purpose to substitute the opinion of the Administrative Court for that of the authority constituted by law to decide the matter in question.

The grounds of judicial review.

960. Judicial review is concerned with:

(a) whether a decision exceeds its powers;

(b) commits an error of law;

(c) commits a breach of the rules of natural justice;

(d) reaches a decision which no reasonable tribunal could have reached; or

(e) abuses its power.
Judicial review of administrative action.

961. (1) Saving as is otherwise provided by law and in addition to the provisions of article 963 of this Code, the Administrative Court may enquire into the validity of any administrative act or declare such act null, invalid or without effect only in the following cases:

(a) where the administrative act is in violation of the Constitution;

(b) when the administrative act is ultra vires on any of the following grounds:

(i) when such act emanates from a public authority that is not authorised to perform it; or

(ii) when the public administration has failed to observe the principles of natural justice or mandatory procedural requirements in performing the administrative act or in its prior deliberations thereon; or

(iii) when the administrative act constitutes an abuse of the public administration’s power in that it is done for improper purposes or on the basis of irrelevant considerations; or

(iv) when the administrative act is otherwise contrary to law.

(2) In this Title, unless the context otherwise requires, "administrative act" means any individual measure or decision which is taken by the public administration in the exercise of public authority and which is of such nature as to directly affect the rights, liberties or interests of persons. It also includes the issuing by the public administration of any order, licence, permit, permission, authorization, warrant, decision, or a refusal to any demand of any person, but does not include any measure intended for internal organization or administration within the said authority, provided that, saving those cases where the law prescribes a period within which the public administration is required to make a decision, the absence of a decision of the public administration following a claimant’s written demand served upon it, shall, after two months from such service made in terms of article 205(4) of this Code, constitute a refusal for the purposes of this definition;

(3) An action to impugn an administrative act under:

(a) sub-article (1)(a) shall be filed within a period of ten years from the date when the interested person becomes aware or could have become aware of such an administrative act, whichever is the earlier; and

(b) sub-article (1)(b) shall be filed within a period of six months from the date when the interested person becomes aware or could have become aware of such an administrative act, whichever is the earlier.
(4) The provisions of this article shall not apply where the mode of contestation or of obtaining redress, with respect to any particular administrative act before a court or tribunal is provided for in any other law.

(5) In any action brought under this article, it shall be lawful for the plaintiff to include in the demands a request for the payment of damages based on the alleged responsibility of the public administration in tort or quasi tort, arising out of the administrative act. The said damages shall not be awarded by the court where notwithstanding the annulment of the administrative act the public administration has not acted in bad faith or unreasonably or where the thing requested by the plaintiff could have lawfully and reasonably been refused under any other power.

(6) For the purposes of this article, and of any other provision of this and any other law, service with the public service is a special relationship regulated by the legal provisions specifically applicable to it and the terms and conditions from time to time established by the Government, and no law or provision thereof relating to conditions of employment or to contracts of service or of employment applies, or ever heretofore applied, to service with the public service except to the extent that such law provides otherwise.

Judicial review of administrative action.

962. The public administration shall give effect to the right:

(a) of every person to administrative action that is lawful, reasonable and procedurally fair; and

(b) of every person whose rights have been adversely affected by administrative action to be given written reasons.

Further grounds of judicial review of administrative action.

963. The Administrative Court shall have the power to review administrative action if:

(a) the public administration which took the action was not authorized to do so by the empowering provision;

(b) a peremptory procedure or peremptory condition prescribed by law was not complied with;

(c) the action is procedurally unfair;

(d) the action was influenced by an error of law or fact;

(e) the action was taken:

(i) for a reason not authorised by the empowering provision;

(ii) for an ulterior purpose or motive;
(iii) because irrelevant considerations were taken into account or relevant consideration not considered;
(iv) because of rigid adherence to a standard;
(v) because of the dictates of another person or body; or
(vi) arbitrarily, capriciously or without properly considering the matter; or

(f) the action itself –
   (i) contravenes a law or is not authorised by law;
   (ii) is uncertain;
   (iii) is not rationally connected to:-
      (a) the purpose for which it was taken;
      (b) the purpose of the empowering provision;
      (c) the information before the public administration; or
      (d) the reasons given for it by the public administration; or
   (iv) is unreasonable, taking into account all relevant factors, including:-
      (a) the adverse effect of the action;
      (b) the relationship between that effect and the benefits of the action; and
      (c) any less restrictive means to achieve the purpose for which the action was taken.

(2) In this article:

   “empowering provision” means the legislative provision or the non-legislative document in terms of which the administrative action was purportedly taken;

   “relevant considerations” includes all material information and all seriously intended objections and seriously intended alternatives to the administrative action.

Remedies in proceedings for judicial review of administrative action.

964. The Administrative Court may, in proceedings for judicial review of administration action, grant appropriate relief. Such relief includes the following:-

(a) a temporary injunction or other temporary relief;

(b) orders dismissing the application and affirming the administrative action under judicial review;

(c) orders upholding the application and:-
   (i) setting aside the administrative action and:-
      (a) remitting the matter for reconsideration by the public administration in accordance with any recommendations by the court; or
      (b) in exceptional cases, substituting or varying the administrative action so set aside or correcting a defect in any state of affairs resulting from the administrative action;
(ii) directing the public administration:-
   (a) to act; or
   (b) in exceptional cases, to correct a defect in the administrative action or any state of affairs resulting from the administrative action or to pay compensation to the applicant or another specified person; or

(iii) prohibiting the public administration from acting in a particular way;

(d) declaration of rights; or

(e) orders awarding judicial costs.

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

CODE OF ETHICS

(Article )

A. Principles

1. This Code of Ethics is adopted within a framework of principles which are fundamental to the ethos governing behaviour. These have been identified as public trust; serving the public and the business community; responsibility to the Government of the day; productivity and flexibility; and public employees’ rights.

2. The public has a right to expect that public sector organisations and their employees are of the highest integrity and competence and serve all citizens fairly, reasonably, equitably and efficiently.

3. Public employees shall provide impartial and accurate advice to the Government of the day and shall implement its policies promptly, efficiently and effectively.

4. The public and the business community have a right to expect that public employees will seek to meet their legitimate needs promptly and courteously.

5. The nation expects public employees to be committed to a constant quest for innovation, improved productivity, and the simplification of procedures, so as to contribute to national economic growth and competitiveness.

6. Public employees shall make full use of information and communication technology as an essential tool in the improvement of public administration and the delivery of better services, and they shall ensure that they possess the necessary skills to this end.

7. Public employees’ rights are all the rights of employees, within the provisions of legislation and regulations.

B. Conflicts of Interest

8. A conflict of interest may be defined as a situation in which a public employee has a private or personal interest sufficient to influence or appear to influence the objective exercise of his or her official duties.

9. Public employees shall avoid any financial or other interest or undertaking that could directly or indirectly compromise the performance of their duties.

10. In many cases only the individual employee will be aware of the potential for conflict. Therefore, the onus is on the employee to disclose to his or her senior if a potential or actual conflict of interest arises.

11. This includes the notification of all relevant personal, financial, business or other interests, in particular:
   (a) any directorship, partnership, agency or any shareholding;
   (b) any interest in any activity or business in which or with which the organisation is engaged;
   (c) any interest in goods or services recommended or supplied to the organisation.

12. Public employees shall notify the head of the organisation in writing within a week whenever any of the above interests arise namely, upon assuming office, change in duties or due to a change in circumstances.

C. Acceptance of Gifts or Benefits
13. No public employee or any member of his household shall accept gifts or services such as might be deemed to create an obligation, real or imagined.

14. A gift can be interpreted as an inducement or a reward simply because of its intrinsic value and therefore only token gifts may be accepted.

D. Personal and Professional Behaviour
15. Public employees shall perform any duties associated with their positions diligently, impartially and conscientiously, to the best of their ability.

16. In the performance of their duties, public employees shall:
   (a) keep up to date with advances and changes in their area of expertise;
   (b) comply with any relevant legislative or administrative requirements;
   (c) treat members of the public and other staff members with courtesy and sensitivity to their rights;
   (d) provide all necessary and appropriate assistance to members of the public;
   (e) maintain adequate documentation to support any decisions made;
   (f) strive to obtain value for public money spent and avoid waste and extravagance in the use of public resources;
   (g) not take or seek to take improper advantage of any official information gained in the course of employment;
   (h) not wilfully supply incorrect or misleading information;
   (i) not indulge in favouritism or nepotism.

17. At all times the behaviour of a public employee shall be in such a way as not to discredit his or her position and not to reflect adversely on the public service.

18. Public employees shall be expected to give full support to the Government of the day regardless of which political party or parties are in office. When implementing Government policy, public employees’ own values and beliefs shall not take precedence over those explicit or implicit in Government policy.

19. Public employees shall not harass or discriminate in work practices on the ground of sex, marital status, pregnancy, age, race, colour, nationality, physical or intellectual impairment, sexual preference, or religious, political or other convictions / allegiances when dealing with their colleagues and members of the public.

20. Public employees have a duty to report to a senior employee any unethical behaviour or wrongdoing by any other public employee during the course of his or her duties.

E. Fairness and Equity
21. Issues or cases being considered by public employees shall be dealt with consistently, promptly and fairly. This involves dealing with matters in accordance with approved procedures, without discrimination on any grounds. There is an obligation to treat each issue reasonably and with a view to meeting the principles of natural justice.

22. When using any discretionary powers public employees shall ensure that they take all relevant facts into consideration and have regard to the particular merits of each case.

F. Use of Official Information
23. A public employee shall only disclose official information or documents acquired in the course of his or her employment when required to do so by law, in the course of duty, or when proper authority has been given. In such cases, comments made by public employees shall be confined to factual information and shall not express opinion on official policy or practice.

24. A public employee as defined in article 2 of the Public Administration Act shall not accept employment in the private sector if he will be placed in a position to make use of "insider information" if such information came to his knowledge as a direct result of his public employment.

G. Use of Official Facilities and Equipment
25. It is expected that public employees shall:
(a) be efficient and economical in the use and management of public resources;
(b) be scrupulous in their use of public property and services and not permit their abuse by others.

26. Official facilities and equipment shall not be used for private purposes unless prior official permission has been given.
H. Outside Employment and Termination

27. The prior approval of the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry concerned or the Chairperson/Chief Executive Officer is required before public employees may engage in any form of business or employment outside their official duties.

28. In all cases when outside employment is considered, public employees shall give their public sector employment first consideration and avoid situations which could give rise to, or the appearance of, a conflict of interest. In particular, they must consider whether the company or organisation concerned is in, or entering into, a contractual relationship with the Government, whether its primary purpose is to lobby government organisations or members of Parliament, or whether it is in a regulatory relationship with the organisation.

29. Former public employees shall ensure that they do not accept employment or engage in activities which may cast doubts on their own integrity or that of the organisation in which they were previously employed or of the Public Service generally.

I. Political Participation and Comment

30. It is of the greatest importance that public confidence in the impartiality of the public administration shall not be impaired in any way. Public employees need to ensure that their participation in political activities does not bring them into conflict with their primary duty to serve the Government of the day. This is important in order to maintain ministerial and public trust in the impartiality of the advice given, and actions taken, by public employees.

31. Likewise public employees need to ensure that the spirit of paragraph 30 hereof is respected whenever they are asked to make a public comment. Public comment includes public speaking engagements, comments on radio and television and expressing views in letters to the newspapers or in books, journals or notices or where it might be expected that the publication or circulation of the comment will spread to the community at large.

32. Determining what is appropriate in any particular case will depend on the extent of the participation of the individual, the nature of the issue, the position held by the individual and existing regulations within the organisation concerned.

33. If a public employee becomes aware that a potential conflict, whether real or apparent, has arisen or is likely to arise, the public employee shall immediately inform the head of his or her organisation.

34. If a conflict of interest does arise, the public employee may have to stop participating in political activity or withdraw from areas of his or her duties giving rise to the conflict of interest.
J. Sanctions

35. Sanctions may be applied if public employees are involved in breaches of this Code of Ethics.

36. The sanctions applied shall depend on the seriousness and nature of the breaches and may entail formal disciplinary and, or criminal action as applicable.

37. Whenever appropriate, counselling by a supervisor or member of senior staff may also be given.

(Article 813)

Policy relating to the Transfers of Government Land

Interpretation

1. In this document the words ‘land’ and ‘transfer’ shall have the same meaning as is given to them by Title IV of Part IV of Book Second of this Code; and any reference to ‘government land’ or ‘government building’ includes a reference to any land or building administered by Government.

2. The cases in which government land may be transferred according to policy as contained in this schedule are additional to the cases in which government land may be transferred according to article 3(1)(a), (b), (d), (e) and (f) of this Act.

Transfer by title of sale or redemption

3. Government land may be sold or the perpetual or temporary dominium directum burden thereon may be redeemed if such land consists of flats or houses which are offered by means of a public notice to be bought or redeemed by a person who resides therein under such conditions as are shown in that notice.

3a. The perpetual dominium directum of government land, where the ground-rent is revisable, may be redeemed by the recognised emphyteuta, in accordance with any conditions contained in a public notice.

Transfer by title of emphyteusis

4. Government land may be transferred by title of emphyteusis:

   (a) if it consists in land which is offered for development under a ‘Home Ownership Scheme’ by means of a public notice containing the conditions of the transfer and the manner of choice of the person who is making an offer;

   (b) if it consists in land which is offered for an industrial project after applicant would have satisfied Government about the benefit which the project would render to the country’s economy and that it would create an adequate number of jobs;

   (c) if it consists in land which is offered for twenty-five (25) years for the building of kiosks according to plans approved by the Planning Authority, to such persons who in 1996 had a valid permit issued by the Department of Lands to operate a kiosk in such same locality;

   (d) if it consists of land granted for a period of fifty (50) years to licensed livestock farmers in the dairy and/or pig-breeding sectors for the running of farms.

5. Emphyteutical grants given previously under the ‘Home Ownership Schemes’ for a definitive period, may be converted into perpetual emphyteusis.
Transfer by title of lease

6. Government land may be given by lease:

(a) if it consists in a new building (not being a building for commercial use) which is offered on a points system after the issue of a public notice indicating, at least in a general manner, the criteria on which the allocation of points will be made;

(b) if it consists in an old building (not being for commercial use) which is offered according to the merits of the case to whosoever is listed on the registers of the government department which is responsible for such matters;

(c) if it consists in a factory which is offered for an industrial project after applicant would have satisfied Government about the benefits which the project would render to the country’s economy and that it would create an adequate number of jobs;

(d) if it consists in agricultural land which is offered on agricultural lease to whosoever would be cultivating it, although such person may not have any title thereto;

(e) if it consists in land which is directly allocated:

(i) to a lotto receiver;

(ii) to a person who has relinquished his place of residence or any other premises occupied by him for commercial purposes or for any other use, and would either have been evicted by Government for any public purpose or would have relinquished such premises due to its dangerous state;

(f) if it consists in a building (comprising land accessory thereto) which is mainly offered for a specific commercial use which may be only carried out under a licence issued by the Government for such use under a special law;

(g) if it consists in commercial premises which are directly allocated by Government on a new lease to such children or grand-children as the preceding tenant would have renounced in their favour (and then only if such tenant would have reached the age of sixty-one years or is in receipt of an invalidity pension under the Social Security Act (Cap. 318)). The rent of the premises shall be fixed on the basis of the previous lease increased by ten per cent for each period of ten years and/or part thereof which would have passed from the date of the last fixing of the rent of the preceding lease;

(h) if it consists in commercial premises leased on a yearly basis, which was in the past given by title of lease for an established period exceeding one year, to the same tenant. The lease of the premises is given to the same tenant, under the conditions of the original title, other than for the rent which is fixed again, so however that no lease may exceed a period of fifteen (15) years;

(i) if it consists of land which formed part of a larger land and is being allocated directly by Government on a new lease to the preceding tenant under the same conditions but at a different rent;
(j) if it consists of a concession under a temporary title for a maximum period of time of ten years of land situated outside Malta.

Servitudes, encroachments and other permits.

   (iii) other similar concessions.

9. Permits may also be granted for the temporary or specific use of government land.

11. Permission may be granted for the sub-lease of part of a larger building for commercial use connected with or accessory or ancillary to use made by the Government of the building of which the leased premises form part.

Transfer of land on the sea shore
12. Government land situated on the sea shore on which a room or any other building has been built or which is being used for the siting of a caravan thereon may be transferred by title of lease for not more than ten years at a rent fixed according to a valuation made by the Commissioner of Lands and which may in no case be less than one hundred euro (€100) annually;

   Sohowever that the building together with all improvements made thereon, other than existing movables, shall revert to Government on the expiration of the lease without any right of compensation.

Land given by exchange
13. Government land may be given by exchange with any other land which is declared as required for a public purpose under Chapter 88 of the Laws of Malta, to the owner of the land which has been so declared. Provided that when a difference exists in the value of the two plots of land given by exchange, such difference shall be balanced with also giving an additional sum of money. Sohowever that the exchange may not be effected if the value of the government land to be given exceeds thirty per cent of the value of the expropriated land. Any damages sustained due to the expropriation of such land shall form part of the value of the same land.

Tale quale transfer for relative compensation

14. Any plots of land comprised in such Building Development Areas, also including such plots of land in Building Development Areas which have been revoked, and which have not been utilized and/or there is apparently no use for them for a public purpose, may be transferred by title of exchange to the owners of the rights for relative compensation for each plot of land which is so transferred and for which an application has been submitted, with money’s worth for each plot of land, of the rights for compensation regarding the same land, and when the person to whom the land shall be transferred was not the absolute owner of such land prior to its expropriation by Government, with money’s worth also of an equivalent amount for each right of any other compensation relating to such land, free and exempt from any burden, hypothec or privilege, and also every right for any other interests or damages which may be due.

The person in whose favour the land is transferred is bound, on the same deed of transfer, to reconstitute on the land so transferred to such person any hypothec, privilege, easement, usufruct, use or any other real right which had existed on the same land prior to such land being declared a Building Development Area according to Act I of 1983 and which are presently incumbent on the compensation rights, until such time as such rights have not been erased by agreement between the parties prior to the reverse transfer; the person to whom such land is transferred shall also be obligated to bind itself on the same deed to recognize any right ta’ rural lease and any other right which was incumbent on such land prior to such land being declared a Building Development Area in terms of the said Act I of 1983.
